Highland Park likely jail site

County officials will consider Highland Park as the probable site for a new 840-bed detention facility in Wayne County during a public hearing tonight.

Members of the county Jail Site Selection Committee are expected to meet at 7 p.m. in the Highland Park Community College auditorium to receive comments from citizens. The facility would be for misdemeanants and nonviolent felony offenders.

The project will be funded by a 1-mill tax increase approved by county voters Aug. 2.

The city of Westland was earlier considered one of two top choices for the new jail. However, county officials named the city and the county-owned Eloise property located there as a last-possible site after officials from other cities requested the jail development.

Area educators net state funds

Several area educators received grants from the Michigan State Board of Education Teacher Mini-Grant program.

In the program, 176 Michigan teachers were granted from $250 to $750 to develop new ideas and fresh approaches to education.

Recipients and the funded amounts included the following: Jill Haislip, $500, Beacon Day Elementary School, Romulus; Robert Kover, $660, Hicks Elementary School, Wayne-Westland school district; Barbara Malden, $450, Thorne Elementary School, Westwood school district.

6 area cadets are graduates

Six cadets representing the Van Buren Township and city of Inkster police departments graduated Dec. 16 from the Wayne County Sheriff's Academy. Ceremonies were staged at the Cherry Hill center, in Inkster.

Guest speaker was Lt. Gov. Martha Griffiths.

Five officers were sent to the academy from the Van Buren department. One was from Inkster.

Rental rehab contract OK'd

Wayne County Commissioners have approved a $75,000 contract with the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development to assist in rehabilitating area rental property.

The contract is a supplement to the original $220,000 approved by commissioners in September.

The monies will help continue the 50-50 matching grants available to owners of rental property in low-income communities. Property owners who are interested in updating their property may apply for the county grants.

Job-training pact continues

Wayne County officials will continue to participate in the Private Industry Corp. of Wayne County by helping to find jobs for unemployed clients.

Commissioners approved the contract Dec. 15.

The contract will net the county $100,000.

For their part, county officials will find specific jobs for unemployed participants of PIC.

Runway study is under way

Approximately $350,000 has been allocated for a consultant to prepare plans for a new east-west runway at the Detroit Metropolitan Airport, in Romulus.

Consulting Engineering Associates, Inc. will prepare plans, specifications and bidding documents for the runway. The runway is a part of the Capital Improvement Program established at the airport. Some federal funds will be used.

The consultant's fees are not to exceed $304,000. An additional $40,000 will go to consulting fees for electrical and mechanical-engineering services.

Infant mortality rate is top county priority

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County officials have made battling increasing infant mortality rates a priority of the county health department.

Members of a 15-member task force appointed to develop new strategies in this area recently identified several target areas and new funding goals.

In Wayne County, more than 15 babies out of every 1,000 live-births died in 1987. That means 554 babies died in Wayne County before their first birthday.

The infant mortality rate is highest in the city of Detroit and is twice as high among black babies than among white.

Task-force members are suggesting that greater public awareness would curb the death rate of infants.

They suggest billboards aimed at women of Arabic and Hispanic descent, with telephone numbers to call for help. They also recommended increased education on the relationship between AIDS and substance abuse to infant mortality.

Members suggested that high-school dropout-prevention would result in lower infant mortality rates. According to a report issued by

Armed robber strikes local home

Two men armed with long guns broke into a home on Hunt Sunday evening and attempted to rob the occupants, according to police officials.

One of the occupants managed to escape the house and call for police, according to police officials. The police arrived before the suspects had left the house.

The two suspects, Daniel Kennedy, 25, of Romulus, and Michael Stav, 19, of Westland, were arraigned Tuesday morning. They have been charged with armed robbery and felony firearm. Bond for each of the men has been set at $25,000. A preliminary exam is scheduled for Dec. 28.

Police discover stolen car

After stopping a car for improper license plates, Romulus police officers discovered the car had been reported stolen.

Police officers pulled over the 1988 Chevrolet Beretta which was reported stolen from Ann Arbor Nov. 19.

Ypsilanti resident Winston Parrish, 19, the driver of the vehicle, was arraigned Tuesday morning and charged with receiving stolen property. Bond was set at $5,000. A preliminary exam is set for Dec. 28.

Romulus family thanks rescuer

A Romulus family continues to search for a stranger who rescued two family members from their burning home earlier this month.

At approximately 4 a.m. Dec. 3, a house on Goddard near Wayne Road caught on fire. Sandra Hicks and her 10-year-old daughter were still inside when a man driving a grey pickup truck pulled up to the house and told the girl to jump from a second-story window.

According to Hick's mother, Lucille Aldson, who relayed the story, the girl jumped into the stranger's arms.

Hicks climbed down the side of the house soon after, Aldson said, and then firefighters arrived.

The rescuer left before Hicks could thank him. Aldson said they would still like to thank the man. "We haven't forgotten him, but we don't know how to find him," she said.

Romulus teens win can drive

After collecting approximately 360 canned goods as part of a radio contest, two Romulus teenagers won a pizza party last week.

Jodie Olshewski, 18, and Jody Brown, 17, spent one week going door-to-door in Romulus asking for canned goods. Everything collected for the WCXI contest goes to needy families in the Detroit area.

"We had a really good time," Olshewski said. "There were only one or two people who said no."

Olshewski added the girls were encouraged to participate in the contest by Brown's father.

The deadline for the contest was Thursday night. Olshewski said she and Brown drove to the drop-off spot in Southgate four or five times attempting to bring in more canned goods than another contestant who was winning. "We didn't know (we won) until we got back and our mothers were shouting at us, 'You won! You won!,'" Olshewski said.

The party, with pizza from Domino's, was staged Friday evening.

Local man faces rush with a smile

Although the Christmas season is considered a joyful time of year, some people have reason to look at the holidays with apprehension, even dread.

Romulus postal worker Howard Maki explained that those in his profession do not exactly relish the holidays. However, Maki said he has reached the point where he can take the increased mail volume in stride. "I take it one day at a time," said Maki, who has worked the same route in Romulus for nine years now.

To estimate the daily volume of mail for delivery, Maki stacks the mail and measures the height. An average height of Christmas mail is 13 feet as opposed to the normal height, 7.5 feet.

"The mail doesn't seem to be as bad as last year," Maki said. "Maybe I'm used to it by now."

Maki pointed out that the Christmas rush is only one of the challenges of delivering mail. Maki and his co-workers often face the dangers of dogs bent on protecting their families from dangerous postmen. He said the situation is just like the movies.

"Dogs are born with a picture in their little brains," Maki said. Dogs think postal deliverers are natural enemies, he claimed. "When I had a dog it used to bark at me until I took off my uniform," Maki said with a laugh.

Another factor in delivering mail is dealing with the weather. While Maki does not like the cold, he said delivering on hot days is even worse.

All in all, Maki said, he enjoys his work. His favorite aspect is the people he has met on his route. "The people are so nice," he said, adding that he appreciates the frequent offers of hot coffee he receives.

Meanwhile, Maki and his co-workers are braving the Christmas rush. This is the busiest week for holiday mail, but Maki said he is not anticipating a rest in the near future. In January postal workers see a rush of catalogs, bulk-rate mail and material from the Internal Revenue Service.

Romulus postal worker Howard Maki tries to forget the frenzied hassles of delivering the mail during the holidays by posing as Santa Claus every now and then. Maki recently visited youngsters in Taylor. Here Maki talks with 5-year-old Arlene Nowak, asking her what she wants for Christmas. ANP photo by Ann Grimes/staff photographer

Officers offer tips on hosting a party

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

Since the holiday season means an increase in parties, local officials are offering advice for safe entertaining.

Detective John Smagner, crime prevention officer for the Romulus police, provided several tips to ensure guests do not drink too much.

First of all, he said, "Make sure you have plenty of non-alcoholic drinks available," he said. "A lot of people who have parties serve a non-alcoholic punch. No one knows exactly what's in it," Smagner added. Munchies are also helpful. Smagner said by encouraging snacks, a host will leave the guests with less room for drinks.

For those who plan to use a bartender, instruct him or her not to push drinks. In addition, Smagner said, ask the bartender to decrease the alcohol in mixed drinks toward the second half of the evening. The bar should be closed an hour before the party breaks up.

Throughout the party, Smagner recommended, be mindful of how much guests are drinking. "If someone gets intoxicated, try to get their keys," Smagner said. He added that the police used to offer a ride service on New Year's Eve, but the manpower is no longer available. If a host cannot provide a ride, said Smagner, he or she should call a cab for anyone who has had too much to drink.

Since most parties provide alcohol at no charge, some people feel they may as well have that extra drink, said Smagner. "Whenever the booze is free, people tend to over-imbibe," he pointed out.

Rotary club members award trip

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A community fundraiser staged by the Romulus Rotary Club has netted one local couple a California vacation.

Mark and Candy Lewciewicz have won a trip to San Francisco, the grand prize of the Romulus Rotary Club drawing staged Nov. 30. The prize includes roundtrip airfare for two, one week at a hotel and $500 spending money.

"The nice thing about it is they're a young couple, married, with children, and they haven't had a vacation in a while," said Percy Willie, club president.

The proceeds from the drawing, approximately $3,200, will go into the Rotary fund, said member Pete Bergeron. From the fund, money is disbursed to several ongoing community projects. Bergeron said the Rotary Club sponsors a scholarship for high school students, it offers boy and girl of the month awards to high school students and club members have recently donated $300 to the Romulus Goodfellow.

While the raffle staged Nov. 30 was a first-time experiment, most members are pleased with the results. "I'm sure it will be an annual event," said Willie.

Foundation eyed by officials

The establishment of a special fund may make more funds available for cultural groups in Romulus.

The Community Foundation of Southeast Michigan will be offering grants to local communities to finance historical groups, art councils and scholarships.

Donations from members of the community and businesses would finance the program.

After attending a special meeting regarding the foundation with the Belleville Downtown Development Authority (DDA), Romulus Community Development Director Dennis Oakes explained the program to Mayor Beverly McAnally in a memo.

If Romulus were to participate, representatives of the foundation would act as advisors to city officials, offering investment management and fund-raising assistance, Oakes explained. The foundation would also provide marketing tools to better promote the fund.

Oakes said participation with the project would cost the city approximately $50 per every $100,000 in the fund. In addition, a fee, based on the number of grants distributed from the fund, would be charged.

An advisory board would be responsible for managing the local fund and for raising donations. Members of the board would also recommend uses for the monies.

Oakes said approximately seven percent of the investment return would be available for grants.

McAnally said participation with the foundation is certainly a possibility for Romulus.

Barbara Rogalle Miller is a member of the Belleville DDA. She urged her local officials to participate in the foundation as a means of offering support for cultural organizations in the city.

Miller said approximately 300 community foundations exist in the United States and city involvement is common. Officials from communities such as Belleville, Van Buren Township, Sumpter Township, Wayne and Ypsilanti are all considering involvement, according to Miller. "It's an idea whose time has come," she said.

U.S. SAVINGS BONDS THE GREAT AMERICAN INVESTMENT

SCHOOL NEWS

SCHOOL NEWS DIGEST

Students lauded for efforts

Students of the month for November will be honored at Romulus High School from 7 to 7:30 p.m. Dec. 21 in the high school library. Parents of the students are invited. At this time, savings bonds will be distributed to those students who are sponsored.

Magic show staged at Cory

A Christmas magic show was recently presented to students of Cory Elementary School, in Romulus. The show featured "Al the Only" and his bag of tricks.

One of the favorite tricks was an illusion with a Christmas theme, according to Pete Silveri, Cory principal. The magician, Silveri said, performed at the school last year and was well-received, "so we thought we'd bring him back here."

Cory candy sells well

Thanks to the help of students, staff members and the PTO at Cory Elementary School, in Romulus, approximately $4,000 were collected during a recent candy sale.

Profits from kindergartners through fifth-grade went to the school fund to purchase playground equipment and to support future school assemblies. The money collected from sixth-grade will be used for a May trip to Toronto for the students.

Talk show staged

Will it be Oprah Winfrey at Cory Elementary School, in Romulus, Jan. 16, or just some students involved in an assembly?

The answer, according to Pete Silveri, principal at Cory, is both. He said the students will participate in an assembly related to Martin Luther King Jr., but it will be staged like an Oprah Winfrey talk show and will be led by students.

"We'll have some of the students be guests and one will play Oprah. The theme will be on how to settle problems without fighting," Silveri said.

The talk show concept, he said, was introduced by a group of teachers at the school who searched for a means of teaching a subject in an interesting way.

Hockey all-stars take charge

Romulus elementary school students recently participated in an all-star floor hockey tournament staged by the Romulus Recreation Department.

The teams were divided into north and south.

In game one, the south was victorious 2-0, with scoring by Johnathan Williams and Larry Barnes, both of Barth Elementary School.

In the second game, the north came out victorious 9-4. Scoring for the north were Sean Dick, Robert Garner and Mike Fyfe, all from Wick Elementary, and Christopher Killibrew, Cory Elementary. Goals for the south were scored by Brian Holbrook, Steven Koths and Alex Hackney, Barth, and Matt Hartman, Halecreek. The third game featured a 3-1 win against the north with goals for the south by Jessica May and Jill Kerr, Halecreek, and the lone north goal was scored by Cassandra Jackson, Wick.

The fourth game was played to a 2-2 tie. Goals for the south were scored by Buddy Bigelow, Halecreek, and Roger Maynor, Barth. North players with goals included Alan Brown, Cory, and Matt Sprinkle, Hayti.

In the final game, the south team overpowered the north players 9-6. Goals for the south came from Mike Chapman and Randy Orme, Halecreek, Chris Drouillard, Merriman, and Gary Harris, Barth. Goals for the north were by Tim Roberts, Wick, Jim Cox, Hayti, David Thompson and Dan Fortune, both of Cory.

Halecreek youth remember veterans

As a remembrance to U.S. servicemen who are still listed as missing in action in Vietnam, students in the Romulus School District will send Christmas cards to the lost soldiers.

The cards will be sent by students of Halecreek Elementary, in Romulus, to those missing in action or believed to be prisoners of war, in care of the Socialist Republic of Vietnam Ambassador to the United Nations, in New York, according to Patty Parrish, POW committee member of the Vietnam Veterans Downriver Chapter 259.

Lists of the POW/MIAs will be given to students at the school, where cards will be made and sent, said Parrish, whose husband, Jerry Parrish, is also working on the campaign. Principals of all Romulus elementary and junior high schools have been notified of the Christmas card campaign.

The latest count of POW/MIAs from the Vietnam War is 2,389. Seventy-four are from Michigan, Parrish said. So far, approximately 2,700 student names from Trenton, Lincoln Park and Romulus have been identified as card senders. The

POW's Poem

POWs have no homes;
Because Asia took them as prisoners; So let's cheer
them up with some cards;
I'm sure they'll like it;
If they receive it.
So let's cheer them up;
And let's show we love them
For protecting our country;
And let's hope our hardest;
So they can come home and thank us;
Come home to America POWs.

number is expected to grow.

To increase awareness of the POW/MIAs and encourage the students to send Christmas cards, Parrish, Bob Smith and Larry Tar, all of the Vietnam Veterans Downriver Chapter, visited Halecreek students yesterday, according to Art McPharlin, Halecreek principal.

"He (was) talking about the POWs and MIAs from Vietnam. The cards are going to be made now by all the students and they'll send them. All the cards should be done by Dec. 9," McPharlin said. "This is something that can really help the kids a lot. The Christmas card idea is something nice. It's a great time to do this."

Awareness of U.S. soldiers lost in Vietnam, he said, may not be too keen among young students. But through a program such as this, it is hoped awareness can be increased.

"The kids may not know too much about Vietnam or the POWs and MIAs. But our teachers have introduced them to Vietnam before. Vietnam, in fact, is a part of our sixth-grade curriculum," McPharlin said.

This is the first year the Christmas card program has been staged at Halecreek, but McPharlin said he would like to participate again next year.

The group expects to have approximately 5,000 cards by Friday to be mailed to the ambassador.

Lunch program promotes healthier eating habits

By THOMAS M. VARCIE

Wayne County Intermediate School District officials have helped make students hungry to learn about good health and foods through its newest nutrition program.

Step Lightly Nutrition Program is available in elementary schools in Van Buren, Romulus, Plymouth-Canton, Inkster, Westwood and Wayne-Westland school districts. Program participants actively promote awareness of healthy foods.

But the most exciting part of the program to students, according to Dr. Marjorie Harrington, food service director for the Wayne-Westland district, is the friendly mascot - a green dinosaur wearing tennis shoes.

"It was really a merchandising program that gets the kids eating nutritious meals and eating in the cafeteria. The dinosaur was adopted as the nutrition symbol," Harrington said.

Junior high students are inducted

Students earning a place in the school chapter included the following:

Kathleen Adams, Michelle Allen, Jessica Austria, Sandy

FROM THE HALLWAYS

This is a weekly feature written by area students.

BELLEVILLE HIGH SCHOOL - Sean Geoffrey Kinlin, a 16-year-old junior, was the only Belleville student to qualify for part two of the Michigan Mathematics Prize Competition Test.

Part one was administered Oct. 12. A score of 22 or better was needed to pass. Kinlin scored 25.

Before taking the test, Kinlin didn't think he stood much of a chance. But, when the test was finished, he was confident he had done well.

"I decided to take the test," Kinlin said, "because I thought it might be fun, and I wanted a scholarship."

Kinlin took the second part of the test Dec. 14. But he will have to wait until February to learn the outcome.

Kinlin's future plans include a career in the theater. He hopes to star on Broadway, after attending Wayne State University. Contributing to this goal, Kinlin has performed in several plays and musicals presented at the high school.

Kinlin portrayed Fred Saltonstall, a plumber, in Mr. Hobb's Vacation, a soda jerk in the musical Grease and a member of the chorus in Anything Goes and You Can't Take it With You.

Kinlin also attended a two-week improvisation course at Olivet College.

Kinlin is a member of the Challenge Bowl, the Science Olympiad Team, the National Honor Society and the basketball pep band. He is also a representative on the student council.

Romulus student organizes exchange

By THOMAS M. VARCIE
ANP Staff Writer

A little school-hopping took place recently at Romulus High School and it was all the idea of an innovative student seeking new methods for better understanding among high school students.

Eleven student leaders from Trenton High School visited Romulus High School Monday to meet with student leaders, according to Mike Birmingham, senior class advisor.

The visitors toured the school and they matched up with student leaders from Romulus for the day. The students discussed codes of conduct, activities, curriculum and many other matters.

The student exchange is the brainchild of Romulus student Terrie Kerekes, a senior.

Kerekes hopes student exchanges with area schools will take place throughout the school year.

The Romulus students involved in the program, she said, are members of student government or part of a student leadership class offered at the school. Romulus students participating in the first exchange were Cara Cithowski, Pam King, Laurie Berlinn, Jodie Miller, Amy Grube, Don Pochmara, Thom Patterson, Ron Zundel, Matt McIntosh, Rick Champagne and Kerekes.

"The visiting students will look at the school and look at the curriculum, the co-op program, advanced placement courses, student activities, the building and facilities and some of the departments," Kerekes said.

It took Kerekes and her advisors more than one month to plan the exchange, but she said it was worthwhile.

"I heard about his kind of program and I asked around and got some input on it. I had a meeting with some kids from our school and that school (Trenton High) and there was a lot of enthusiasm," she said.

Student leaders from Romulus High School will visit Trenton High Jan. 12. Kerekes hopes four exchanges will be made during this school year.

"This program can be very positive for us. It shows students how other schools are run and they can really compare Romulus to the way their school is. We can see new things to adopt and things that could be an asset to us," she said. The program has received much praise from Birmingham.

"Terrie has done a great job with this. She's made the phone calls and set the whole thing up. She also worked with other principals to schedule things," Birmingham said. "She has set up to visit other high schools and for them to come to us for this year."

STOP DRUNK DRIVERS BEFORE THEY STOP YOU

Drive with Care
During the Holidays

Statistics show, you or someone close to you will one day stop a drunk driver on the road. Whether we like it or not, we are all "under the influence" of people who will drink too much and then get behind the wheel. And even though the laws are cracking down to catch offenders and drinking ages have been raised in all states, your best protection is to know your own limitations with alcohol. Make sure your family and friends are also aware by learning the facts and not allowing anyone to drive while intoxicated. Don't wait until you or someone you know stops a drunk driver on the road, before you discover the sobering consequences of mixing alcohol and driving.

Year in review: State lawmakers pleased with success

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Despite failure to approve a school reform package, local lawmakers were pleased with the results and accomplishments of 1988.

"Like many of us, I was disappointed about the school finances, but I'm sure we will go back at it again in 1989," said State Rep. Lynn Owen (D-Maybee).

"Overall, a lot of good things came out of this session."

Most local lawmakers agree with Owen's assessment, including State Rep. James Kosteva (D-Canton).

"I think we accomplished a great deal, especially in the advancements in environmental issues," Kosteva said. "It was truly a banner year for the environment."

Kosteva spent a good deal of time working on a number of hazardous waste and recycling bills.

"The hazardous waste bill addressed underground storage tanks and set tougher regulations on hazardous waste disposal," Kosteva said.

But Kosteva admitted that the school reform failure was the down side of the year.

Kosteva was disappointed to see the bill defeated, and he called the situation "a political game played by lobbying groups, which brought the demise of the effort."

Members of the Senate rejected the plan, 20-16, on Dec. 6.

Gov. James Blanchard proposed a 1 cent sales-tax increase and a 25-percent property-tax reduction that would generate $119 million new dollars for education statewide.

"I'm disappointed we didn't come through on it (school reform bill)," said Sen. William Faust (D-Westland). "We still don't have a final solution with school reform."

However, Faust called the session "productive for area communities."

"For the district I thought we were very successful," he said. "Every community that had requests in were granted."

Faust gave examples of money for the dam in Van Buren Township, money for additional economic development studies in Westland, money for a golf course and schools in Taylor and money from Detroit Metropolitan Airport going into the city of Romulus.

Faust also spent time working on bills dealing with truck safety on highways, setting underwater preserves for future generations. And he introduced a bill which would prohibit a person to be sued for slander if he or she is being charged with rape.

The slander bill was approved by one house, and Kosteva expects it to be law by the end of the next session.

"The highlight for me was seeing the library in Lansing completed," Faust said. "I've worked for 17 years on that, and it is one of the most beautiful buildings in the country."

Kosteva was also pleased to see Romulus receive money from the airport.

"A highlight for this area was to see the increased parking fees at the airport which will go to the city of Romulus," he said. "It is the first time Romulus will get a percentage of a surcharge from the airport."

Owen spent a good amount of time working on home care and health care bills, including a law which will speed up the process of obtaining medical equipment such as wheelchairs and braces.

Sen. Robert Geake (R-Northville) sponsored a triple-prescription bill which requires those prescribing narcotic and other dangerous drugs to use a triple form.

"This will allow for the tracing from the manufacturer to the user and help combat the problem of diversion of prescription drugs into the black market," he said.

Geake also sponsored a cigarette tax increase bill and an emergency loan act for counties in fiscal deficit.

Geake plans to reintroduce a bill which will prohibit smoking in public schools and a bill to force video stores to have the rating of the movie listed on the cassette.

Gerald Law (R-Plymouth) was upset that state lawmakers didn't deal with school finances.

"We have been looking at it for two years, and we should have had something put together by now," he said.

State lawmakers will begin the 1989 session Jan. 11.

Local officials' salaries established by boards

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

With salary hikes for members of Congress, state lawmakers and county officials making headlines, area residents may wonder what their local lawmakers' paychecks will be like for the new year.

Officials in most communities establish salaries for public officials using a similar compensation system. Typically, a committee of private individuals—usually appointed by the mayor—meet to determine the salaries of public officials.

Because the committee members are appointed by the mayor, there is usually some controversy concerning their loyalties.

In Westland, a seven-member Local Officials Compensation Commission recommends salaries for public officials.

"Their word is not law," according to Joe Benyo, consultant for the city.

The recommendations of the committee are reviewed by city council members, who either accept or reject the recommendations.

As in most cities, the compensation commission is established by city charter. Members are appointed by the mayor and confirmed by city council members. In Westland, the commission meets every two years.

In Inkster, according to Betty Jaremba, personnel secretary, a similar system is in place.

In Wayne, the Local Officers Compensation Commission, with six members, sets the salary for the part-time mayor and council members. Other salaries are established by the city manager, according to Wayne City Clerk Norma Collop.

Official paychecks are issued

The annual compensation for most local officials is established by a citizens board. What follows are the current pay rates for officials in the western Wayne County area.

A merit commission sets salaries for Canton Township officials. The three-member panel is also responsible for hearing employee grievances. Members are appointed by the Canton Board of Trustees.

In Belleville, the salaries for elected officials are established in the city charter. An increase in salary requires an amendment to the charter. All other officials' salaries are set by council members.

In setting salaries, most compensation board members study the surrounding cities and townships to determine what their officials should be making. Many times, the figures have to be altered because of varying populations and responsibilities.

Members also determine how the officials are to be paid. In the Canton, township trustees are paid for each meeting they attend. Members of the merit commission discussed the possibility of changing this system to conform with the annual-compensation policy of surrounding communities but later abandoned the idea.

Area seniors planning for annual 'power day'

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Local senior citizens are preparing to meet with their counterparts from throughout the state to discuss issues of importance to the older generation.

Michigan Senior Power Day is slated for May 16, in Lansing. The day-long event is staged as part of Older Americans Month.

Local senior citizens are expected to climb aboard buses and travel to Lansing, to participate in the event.

The seniors will participate in discussions on matters of interest to older Americans, such as Medicaid, health care, nursing homes and staying active.

Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek, director of the Westland Senior Resources Department, believes the event offers senior citizens an opportunity to meet with other seniors, enjoy good conversation, and learn something about senior issues.

Local and state legislators are usually on hand for the event.

Senior Power Day is the largest advocacy gathering of older adults in the state, according to Julius Otten, chairman of the event. Approximately 6,000 senior citizens are expected to meet in Lansing for the conference. Among them will be seniors from Westland, Wayne, Romulus, Inkster, Canton Township, Belleville and Van Buren Township. Most of the local coalitions are being organized through local senior-citizens clubs.

The $50,000 pricetag for the meeting is funded by exhibitors and corporations. Kroger, Michigan Dental Association, Michigan Association of Counties, Consumers Power Co., Michigan Sheriffs Association, Citizens Insurance Co. and the American Association of Retired Persons of Michigan are among those sponsoring the event.

The theme for the 1989 Senior Power Day is "Building a Community of Generations." The topics discussed will include housing, health, employment, education and transportation.

Bonds OK'd for Supersewer

By BARBARA ALBERT
ANP Staff Writer

Wayne County Commissioners last week approved the issuance of $7.7 million in bonds to help finance the North Huron Valley/Rouge Valley Wastewater Control System project, better known as Supersewer.

After years of planning and replanning, the project is nearly under way, according to county officials.

Twelve area communities will participate in the Supersewer project, which is designed to better handle wastewater overflow, preventing further polluting of the Rouge River.

The issuance of bonds is the second step in financing the multi-million-dollar project. Grants are also expected from the federal government.

Bond-sale monies will go to the various communities to finance local portions of the system. The coordinated bond effort was considered to be the most efficient means for collecting the funding needed, county officials said.

Inkster, Dearborn Heights, Northville, Van Buren Township, Garden City and Wayne officials will participate in the county bond sale.

Novi, Plymouth, Redford and Romulus officials will collect revenues using their own resources.

City officials in Livonia and Westland will issue their own bonds to fund the project.

Opinion

A child, a promise, a lesson for us all

Western Wayne County is receiving the supreme Christmas gift this season. But it's not wrapped in a glimmering package, nor is it tucked neatly under the community tree. This gift has no high-ticket price tag, nor can it be refunded or exchanged.

This gift can be found in dozens of hearts. It can be found in the dedication and devotion of area residents who know the holiday message and live by it . . .

" 'Tis better to give than to receive. 'Tis even better to give of oneself. "

This message is the motto of members of the Belleville area Goodfellows, under the direction of Patricia Birbeck. The Goodfellows have found the reason for the season in their own back yard.

Birbeck and 27 other Goodfellows members have "adopted" an area youngster this year. The youngster no longer sees life through rosy-colored glasses.

The sparkle of the Christmas tree, glimmer of dancing lights and strains of holiday carols are all overshadowed by the death of his mother several months ago.

It was this young boy's mother who promised him a very special birthday gift. Her untimely death meant a birthday promise unfulfilled, a dream never realized and a ray of hope for fulfillment at Christmas that grew dimmer each day.

Because of his sadness, the youngster became distraught and began distrusting the relative caring for him. The boy began to lose sight of the meaning of the holidays - the meaning of love, caring, sharing and joy . . .

Patricia Birbeck is the example of Christmas spirit. She lives the message of love, caring, sharing and joy. Although her Christmas wish-list resembles the cliché of "peace and goodwill to men," Birbeck truly has only a desire to help others and share her own good fortune with all.

Birbeck and her fellow Goodfellows members aren't revealing their detailed Christmas surprise. But one can rest assured that one young Belleville-area boy will receive the promise his mother gave him, a promise given with all of the love, affection and true Christmas spirit each of us should feel.

But this message of the Christmas season doesn't end with the Patricia Birbecks or members of all of the Goodfellows organizations in the area, who are tireless in the task to ensure that no child is without a Christmas. The message is extended by workers of all area charities, soup kitchens, shelters, school groups and churches.

This message is carried forth in the faint voices of area Scouting troops singing praises of the season at area nursing homes and convalescent centers. This message of the season is extended by a community blessed with much - including the ability to give more than to receive.

At Christmas, it seems only fitting that we should pause in these news columns of everyday life to reflect on the many positive characteristics of the residents in this area. Too often we become embodied in our life of toil, tears, personal triumphs and tribulations that we forget the message of goodwill each of us preach.

A column boasting the blessings of the caring souls in the area isn't sure to ignite the ire of area residents or stir the controversy a sound opinion should. This column won't begin to give credit to the thousands of other local citizens who deserve special recognition for their contributions in promoting this message of "goodwill to all men."

But this special Christmas message, we hope, will cause at least one frazzled Christmas shopper to stop and look around him. It will cause at least one busy holiday host to count his or her blessings and think of those residents who will enjoy no Christmas dinner this year, will smell no aroma of fresh evergreens and will experience no excitement of tearing the glittering wrappings from an assortment of Christmas packages.

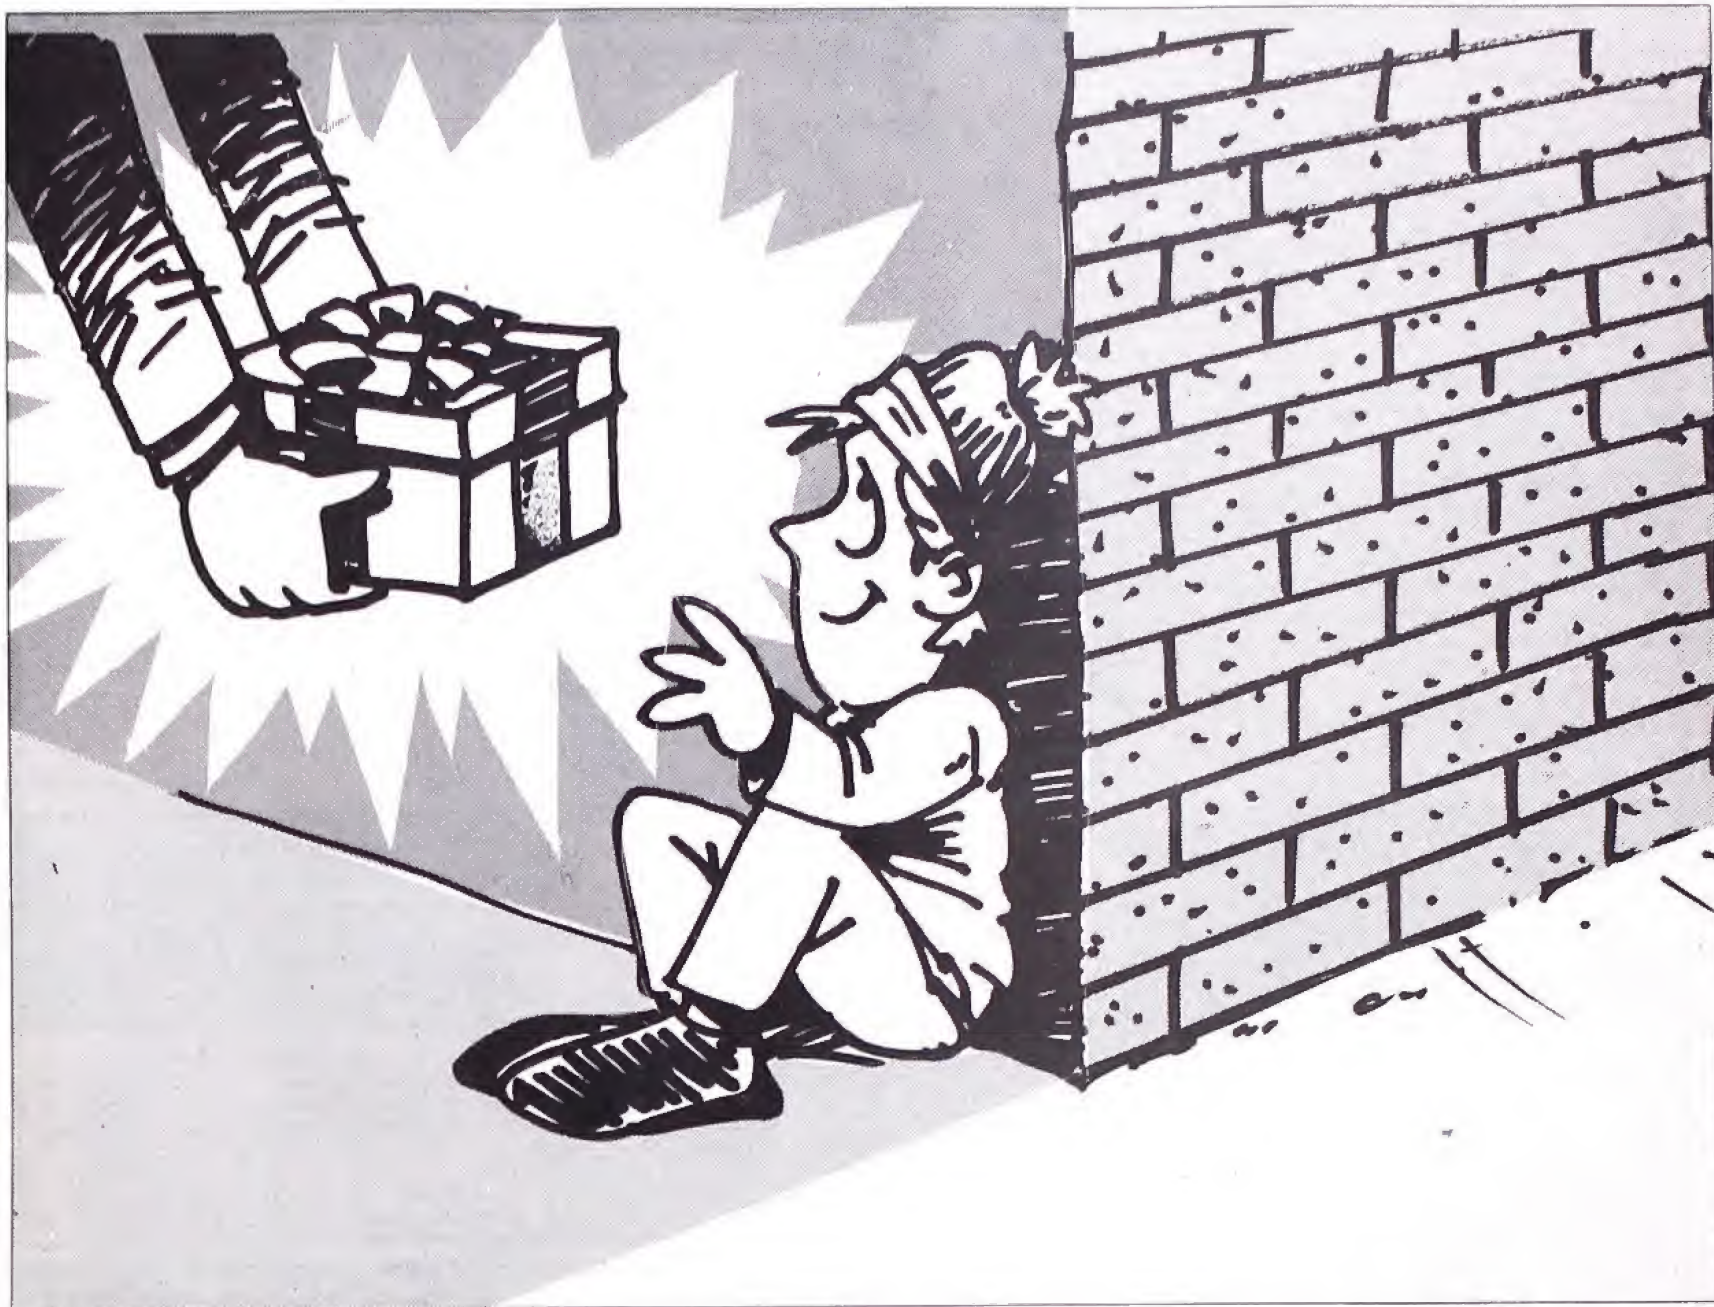

Maybe, then, the picture of one Belleville youngster will come to mind. The picture of the small child opening that long-promised present will be vivid. The smile on his face, the gleam in his eye, the laugh, the giggle, the glow of the Christmas spirit will all be very evident.

Yes, the lights on the Christmas tree will sparkle for that boy this year. The holiday carols will echo loudly.

And one group of area residents will have received the best Christmas present they ever received - in the form of a hug and a smile.

"Peace on earth. Goodwill to men. It is truly better to give than to receive."

Several area residents are living proof.

County waste plan won't serve area

I disagree with your editorial supporting the Wayne County Solid Waste Plan. The plan is unfair to the less-developed communities in the county, such as Sumpter and Van Buren.

According to the plan, we can be forced by the county to accept landfills and, yet, the final authority on questions of how these dumps are run, the standards they must meet and the enforcement of regulations will lie within the county. Particularly objectionable in this regard is the "emergency siting procedure," which allows the county to exclude local authorities from negotiations for the siting of new dumps if landfill capacity in the county is less than enough for five years. Such a situation exists at this moment.

We, in the southwestern part of the county, should not feel secure that the county will protect our interests. The requirements of the county are at odds with those of the "host" communities. Our local township authorities are naturally concerned with the safety of their residents and the protection of their property and environment, whereas, the county needs a cheap place to dispose of the toxic ash that will be produced by the new Detroit incinerator.

If we must accept new dumps in our area, we should insist on having the last word on the safety requirements these facilities will meet and the enforcement of these regulations. Also, because of the highly undesirable nature of incinerator ash, any communities that can meet the 75-percent reduction of waste called for in the plan without resorting to incineration should be exempt from having to landfill this noxious material.

Unfortunately, county officials believe this plan has widespread support. We, in the southwest part of the county, must make our objections known, especially to Milton Mack, who supports the plan and is chairman of the Solid Waste Implementation Committee.

Please allow me to add my thoughts to those of Nora Hardin, manager of Willow Creek apartments, concerning the three individuals indicted on fraud charges in the Wayne-Westland school district (letters to the editor, Nov. 30.)

My wife and I have participated in the adult classes provided by these three people for many years and have, indeed, had our lives enriched. We want to be a part of the community that supports these three.

Education group mission undermined

This is written regarding recent concerns expressed about CREW - Community Researching Educational Workings - in the Plymouth-Canton school district. Accusations made by those who seem determined to undermine any efforts to improve the quality of public education in this district frequently have no basis in fact.

Information is taken out of context and distorted to the point of inaccuracy. This problem presently prevailing in our schools is impairing the efforts of hard-working community citizens who wish to work toward a better education through increased efficiency and quality control.

Our students deserve the dedicated commitment, and our community should be thankful for the vision and expertise provided by CREW volunteers. The work they have begun needs to go on without further interruption.

More than 50 volunteers came forth following the formation of CREW late last summer. They were told at that time that the first goal of the committee would be to implement a survey in order to identify perceived strengths and weaknesses of the district.

Volunteers were asked to submit possible survey questions, and many were involved in the random phoning of citizens. Volunteers were then encouraged to attend a meeting where volunteer survey consultant Dr. Sam Fullerton presented the results.

Mary Dahn, who attempts to speak for 'conservative Christians,' accused me of excluding that 'faction' from subcommittee work. Dahn neglected to indicate that her participation had been encouraged since she volunteered. But bringing several friends unannounced to the curriculum subcommittee meeting was an obvious attempt to accomplish a single objective - changing the district's approach to sex education. Her approach was tactless and interruptive, insisting their views be heard, while interfering with other agenda items.

CREW procedures to the point of publicly accusing a subcommittee of being a 'fraud and a hoax' will not be expected to offer any further time to that subcommittee.

We must all reconsider how valuable public education is to our country and our community. It is our continuing responsibility to provide a positive educational experience for our students now and those of the future. Narrow-minded attempts to seek attention and gain control in order to accomplish ambiguous secular goals only serve to deteriorate the system itself.

Great Scott! Romulus' 6-9 center lifts Eagles to a 57-55 win over Ypsilanti

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Great Scott. Grayam Scott, that is.

The 6-9 Romulus senior center hauled in 16 rebounds and scored 12 points Friday night to pace Coach Dan Henry's Eagles to a cliffhanging 57-55 basketball victory over always pesky Ypsilanti.

"It was a good win for us," Henry said afterwards. "The kids hung in there despite the last minute pressures, and this time we came away with the victory."

The victory, the second in as many league starts, also moved Romulus to the top of the South Central Conference standings, and that's the first time that the Eagles enjoyed the view from the top of the perch since they joined the league two years ago.

But, in order to stay on top, they had to beat title-hopeful Ann Arbor Huron. The two SCC rivals were scheduled to meet last night. The River Rats are a big, physical team which split with the Eagles a year ago.

A loss to the Huron by Romulus would create a logjam at the top of the standings. Ann Arbor Pioneer and Huron each have one league setback while Ypsilanti is 0-2 and Adrian is 1-0 in the conference.

After playing to an 18-all tie for the first eight minutes, Romulus broke the knot with a 16-7 scoring edge in the next quarter as the Eagles came up with balanced scoring thanks to Eric Lightsey, who had six of his 12 in that frame.

But the Braves countered with Charles Coleman in the third period as the Ypsi sharpshooter pumped in seven of his 13 points and Derrick Pressley got four to close the gap to 46-41. Wendell Rogers also found the range for two three-pointers.

With Scott in control of the boards, the Eagles managed to hold off the rallying Braves in the final period.

Romulus efforts at the free throw line paid off in this game. The Eagles capitalized on 11 of 14 attempts, and that made a big difference; Ypsi finished with 13 of 20 charities.

Muhammed's 13 points were tops for the winners, while Scott and Lightsey each had 12. Pressley finished with individual scoring honors. He had 17. Teammates Coleman and Rogers chipped in with 14 and 13 points, respectively.

On Tuesday, Romulus struggled against a defense-minded Warren De LaSalle and lost a 63-52 decision to their nonconference rivals.

This time it was inept shooting at the foul line that led to the Eagles' demise. They cashed in on only five of 19 free throws and missed five front ends of one-and-ones in the crucial front period.

Scott again looked good as he contributed 17 points and nailed down a season and varsity career-high 23 rebounds. Muhammed added 17 points and Arol Trinity collected 14.

Belleville turns back Trenton Tigers even Wolverine 'A' Conference cage record

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If Belleville basketball coach Michael Garland has a few more grey hairs this week, you can attribute it to his Tigers.

The Tigers again waited until the closing minutes of a game before they managed to pull out a victory for their gregarious coach.

The 1988 Tigers have been notorious for last period rallies.

Some successful; some not.

Last week, against Fordson, Belleville wasn't that fortunate. They dropped their Wolverine 'A' Conference opener to Fordson.

However, Friday night Garland's Tigers rebounded on the strength of 6-6 playmaker Maurice Brantley and some outstanding shooting from quarter-back Jeremy Ison to pull out a 69-64 victory over Trenton.

contest. "But it should not have gone down to the wire. We should have put them away earlier."

Ison, a 6-1 senior, who made his debut as a starter an auspicious one, didn't disappoint the team. He contributed a career-high 26 points and helped take the pressure off of Brantley. Brantley's opponents have double-teamed him most of the season.

Did Ison earn another shot at the starting berth?

"You bet he has," said Garland, who said he believes the key to the victory belonged to Ison's overall performance. "With him (Ison) doing the things he did out there, he softened and loosened up the Trenton defense, so that they had to slack off of Maurice."

And Brantley responded with 11 of his 22 points in the fourth period to spark the Tigers to a 21-13 edge in those final eight minutes of the game.

It was close right down to the final minutes, and neither team enjoyed more than a six-point edge. Trenton held a 14-13 advantage after one, but Belleville struck back with Ison hitting from long and short to tie the score at 31- apiece for the first half. Each team put 17 points on the scoreboard in the third period, setting up the drama for the final act.

Brantley played the star role in the finale as his 11 points tilted the scoreboard in favor of the Tigers.

Ison connected on nine of 14 shots from the field - five of those were three-pointers. He also had a perfect three for three at the free throw line.

Kevin Hunter, who also was deadly from the three-point range, drilled in four three-pointers and sank three of four free throws for 15 for the winners.

Belleville canned nine of their 13 opportunities as compared to Trenton's 14 of 23 at the free throw line.

Before the Christmas Holidays and scrimmages to fine-tune their cage machine, Belleville was scheduled to meet non-conference opponent, Westland John Glenn, last night.

A victory over the Rockets would give the Tigers a respectable 4-1 overall and a 1-1 conference record to come back to in 1989.

In other Wolverine 'A' Conference basketball action, Dearborn Fordson remained undefeated on the season with their fourth (second in the league) victory over Wyandotte, 54-51; Wayne Memorial buried Southgate Anderson 74-29; and Monroe turned back Lincoln Park, 83-62.

Tigers dunk Fordson

Belleville launched the 1988 Wolverine 'A' Conference swim phase of the season Thursday with an easy victory over archrival Dearborn Fordson.

Coach Bill Snider's Tigers picked up seven out of a possible 11 first places in a 53-30 victory over the Tractors. The win boosted Belleville's overall record to 3-1 on the year.

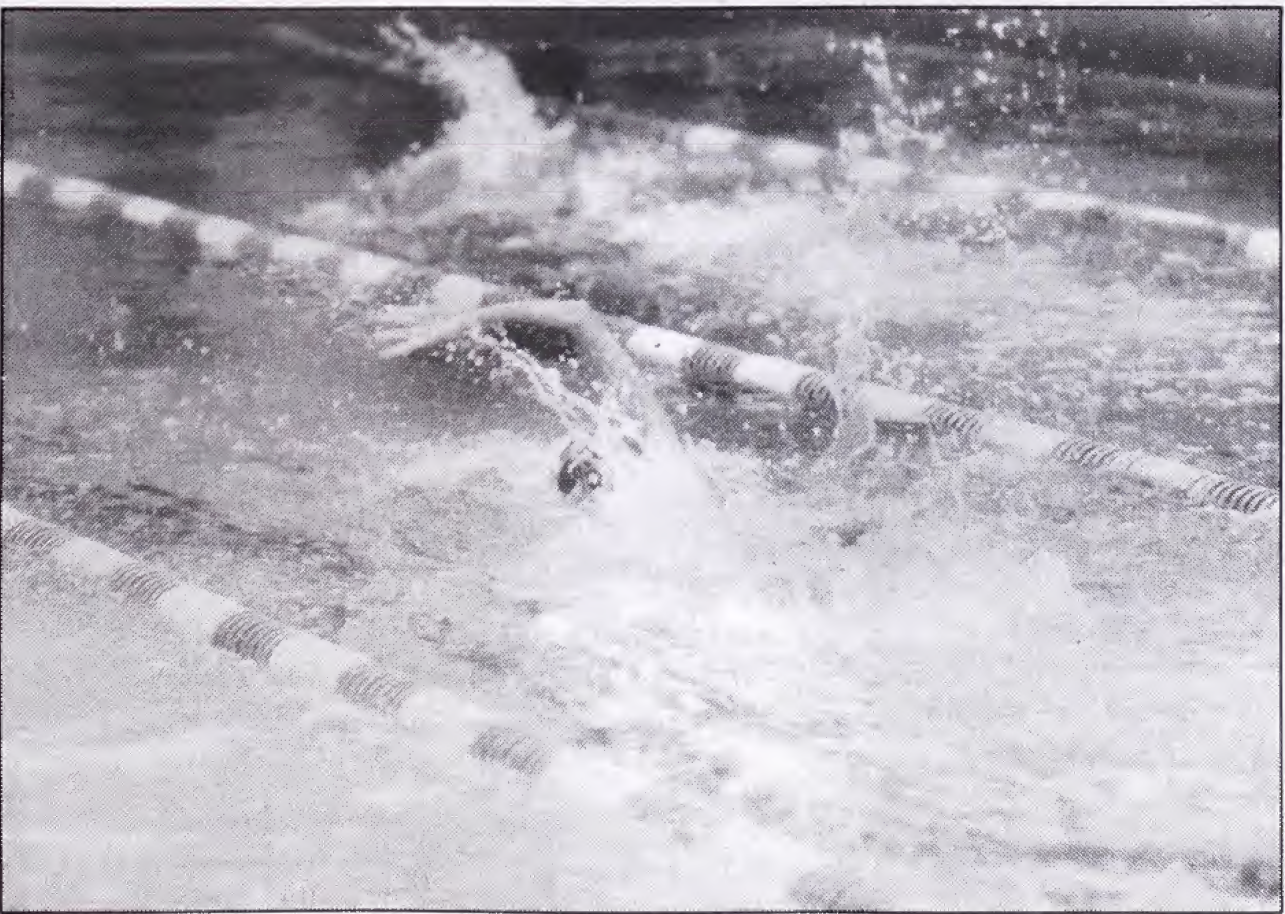

"The kids are looking good," said Snider who emphasized that he has a young swim club this year that is sprinkled with a few seniors. "At this stage of the season I must say that we're coming around as well as can be expected."

"However, obviously we can't sit on our laurels. There's still a lot of work ahead."

Belleville will be on the road tonight, clashing with another conference rival, Trenton. The Trojans, although they are not a serious threat to Monroe's throne, are a serious challenger for second place honors, a berth that the Tigers themselves covet. Monroe swimmers have dominated the conference. They have won kept the title in their possession since the inception of the league nearly a decade ago.

The Tigers launched their assault against Fordson with a victory in the opening relay. Snider picked Bryan Bogardus, Scott Sikes, Eric Snider and Duane Townsend for the 200-yard medley and the four-some responded in the winning time of 1:50.5.

Belleville divers dominated

Heading for the wall is Belleville's Scott Overholt. their peers from Dearborn. Alan Hodnett and Sean Garland combined for a 1-2 finish with Hodnett's 171.95 standing up as the first-place total. Garland had the second-best finish with 149.45.

The Tigers also had a 1-2 finish in the 100-yard butterfly as Eric Snider, the coach's son, led teammate Kevin Killough to the wall. Snider's winning time was posted as 57.66.

Bogardus came back to the pool and swam a 52.91 to win the 100-yard freestyle event, and Michael Bird put the 500-yard freestyle event in the Tiger win column thanks to a 5:26.07 performance.

Scott Overholt turned in a 1:11.50 in winning the 100-yard breaststroke for the Tigers.

Belleville also put the winning 400-yard freestyle relay team into the water as Joe Bongiorno, Ed Phillips, Doug Duff and Bird combined for the winning time of 3:41.99.

"There is a lot of enthusiasm on this team," Snider said, "and that is one of the reasons why it's a pleasure to coach these kids."

Earlier in the week, the Tigers put down neighboring Ypsilanti 98-74 for a out-of-conference victory.

Bird provided the Tigers with two of their six first places. He was the first to reach the finish for the 200-yard freestyle as he churned a 1:57.48. He came back and was clocked in the winning time of 5:27.89 to win the gruelling 500-yard freestyle event.

Belleville ruled the competition on the diving boards with Corey Frost, who piled up a first-place total of 170.70 points. Snider accounted for the victory in the 100-yard freestyle as he swam a 50.04 in the event.

Belleville again dominated the 400-yard freestyle event as Bogardus, Duff, Bird and Snider teamed up for a 3:35.91 finish.

Labeau claims All-State honors

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Lauri Labeau, the sharp-shooting 5-3 senior guard who led New Boston Huron to a third consecutive Class B District Basketball Championship, was named to the All-State First Team by The Detroit Free Press this week.

Labeau, who set all sorts of scoring records for Coach Bill Harrison's team during her varsity career, averaged in double scoring digits and assists per game throughout most of her varsity career.

"Lauri is one of if not the best all-around players I have ever coached," Harrison said. "This unique (All-State) honor is deserving and is yet another recognition of her outstanding talents."

Lauri Lebeau

"Her accomplishments on the basketball court are even more astounding in that most of our opponents knew they had to stop her in order to beat us, so they usually double-teamed her."

Labeau scored more than 1,000 career points as a member of the Huron team.

Robichaud loses to title contender

It was an early test of swim power and Willow Run, the defending Suburban Athletic Conference champ, proved to Dearborn Heights Robichaud why it is the king of the SAC.

The Flyers bombed Coach Jim Hadley's Bulldogs 54-29 in their first dual meet of the season, sweeping nine out of a possible 11 first places in the victory.

"They have an excellent team," Hadley said who sent his Bulldogs up against city rival, Annapolis, last night in a nonconference meet. "We have had some setbacks, and we are realigning our lineup in order to compete."

Robichaud received winning performances from Gerald Petrie and Robert Stewart against Willow Run.

Petrie led teammate Chris Davenport to the wall in the 100-yard freestyle. Petrie's winning time was posted as 1:00.9.

Stewart emerged with the victory in the 100-yard breaststroke. He covered the distance in one-minute flat.

Area wrestlers look good at tourney

When your invitation includes some of the best in the state, fourth place isn't a bad place to be. And as the season goes on the tough competition will only help.

So it's not surprising that John Glenn High School Wrestling Coach Tom Buckalew was pleased with his Rockets' fourth-place finish in the annual Big Red Invitational, Saturday.

"It was a good tournament," Buckalew said. "There was at least one state champ there and three state qualifiers from a year ago. So it was good competition."

The Rockets entered 12 wrestlers in the 14-team tournament and all 12 placed in the top six, which pleased Buckalew.

"We worked very hard and at this point in the season, it was a good showing," he said. "We obviously have a lot of work to do, but I'm not disappointed with fourth place."

Brother Rice won the tournament with 216 points, Romulus was second with 202 and Mt. Clemens was third with 189.5. Plymouth-Canton finished with 45, while Wayne Memorial had 22.

One of the highlights for Glenn was the performance of former all-area wrestlers Derek Tharp and Rob Matigian. Both won in their respective weight classes a year ago, and both retained their crowns.

Tharp, a 189-pound wrestler, defeated Jim Papke of Mt. Clemens in the finals on a fall. In fact, Tharp won all four matches on falls.

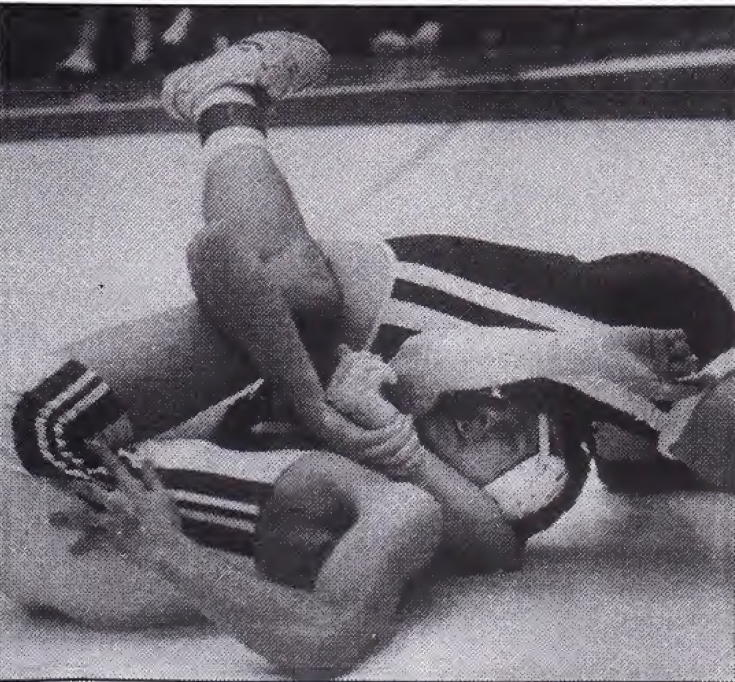

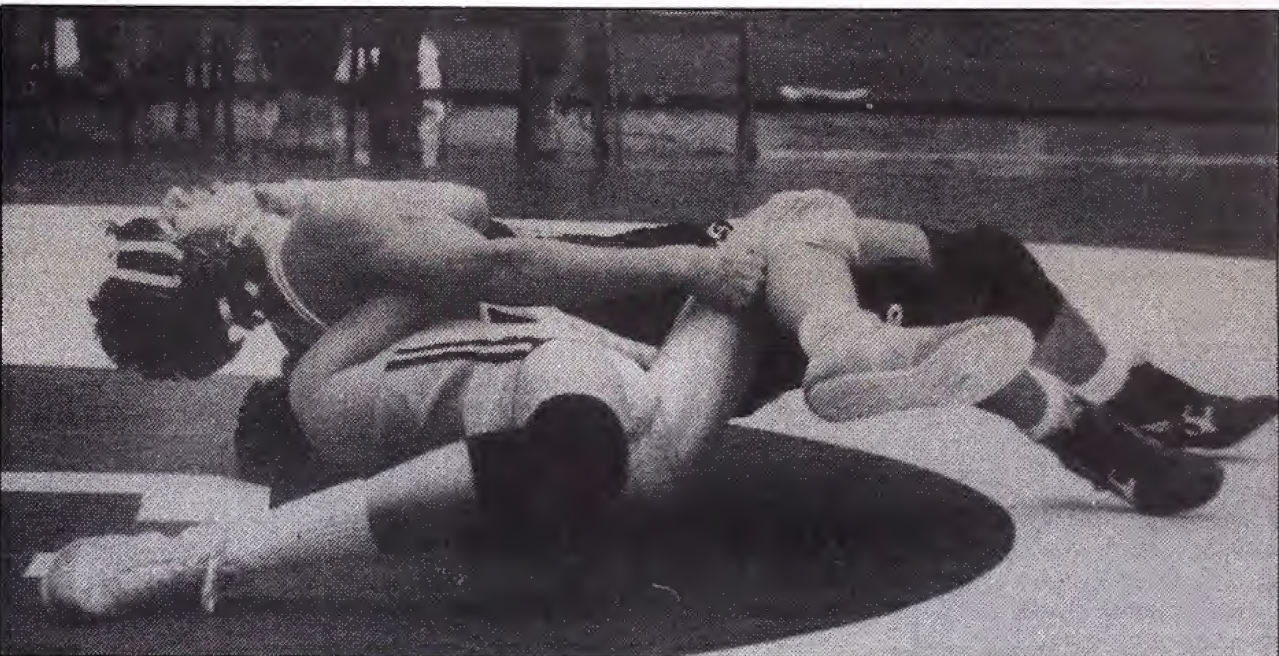

The senior, who was also a football standout, was selected as outstanding wrestler of the meet.

Matigian took home another first-place trophy in the 135-pound weight class. The senior defeated Chris Snooks of Brother Rice, a 1987-88 state qualifier, on a technical fall.

"Rob did an outstanding job, he beat a very good wrestler in Snooks," Buckalew said.

Kraig Kuban took a second place in the 160-pound weight class. He was defeated by the 1987-88 state champ.

Nate Kempainian took third in the 130-pound weight class, which included a 3-2 win over Derrin Flagg of Brother Rice.

After winning the Belleville Invitational and finishing runnerup last weekend at the prestigious Westland John Glenn "Big Red" Invitational, Coach Norm Butler and his Eagles will pack up their suitcases, their gear and travel to Ohio. Romulus grapplers impressed Toledo officials so much last year that they extended the local team an invitation to participate in the tournament again this year. A number of lottery game players have recently asked about televised drawings, and why some stations have changed. This column answers those questions.

Q: What stations are now in the network?

A: The eight stations include: WDIV-TV, Channel 4 in Detroit; WUHQ-TV, Channel 41 in Battle Creek; WFLY-TV, Channel 25 in Flint; WZZM-TV, Channel 13 in Grand Rapids; WILX-TV, Channel 10 in Lansing and Jackson; WLUC-TV, Channel 6 in Marquette; WGTQ-TV, Channel 8 in Sault Ste. Marie, and WGTU-TV, Channel 29 in Traverse City. The network stations also feed some local cable outlets.

Q: Are the drawings shown live?

A: Yes. Originating at 7:29 each night in studios of WDIV-TV in Detroit, the drawings are shown live over all other stations via a satellite link.

Q: Which drawings are shown?

A: The Daily 3 game drawings are shown and the winning Daily 4 game number announced on Monday, Tuesday, Thursday and Friday nights. The Super Lotto drawings shown on Wednesday and Saturdays include announcement of both Daily game winning numbers.

Q: Do the same stations show half-hour lottery specials when they occur?

A: Yes. These generally start at 7:30 on Saturday night and include live drawings of both Daily games and Super Lotto.

Q: When did the network start?

A: The network was formed in 1984 just prior to the start of Lotto game play.

Q: Why are some stations different now?

A: The lottery recently asked TV stations throughout Michigan to submit bids for a new network contract in order to provide the best possible coverage for players at the lowest cost. As a result, some changes were made.

Q: Are drawings also now being aired by radio stations?

A: As a service to players not always able to watch the drawings on television, the Lottery has also formed a statewide network of radio stations to carry the live drawings.

Q: Which stations are included?

A: Network radio stations include WKJF-FM in Cadillac, WWJ-AM in Detroit, WZZZ-FM in Flint, WLAV-FM in Grand Rapids, WIML-FM in Ironwood, WIBM-AM & FM in Jackson/Lansing, WKZO-FM in Kalamazoo, WMQT-FM in Marquette, and WGER-FM in Saginaw/Bay City.

For submitting the question leading to this column, Richard Barber of Gaylord will receive 50 tickets for the instant lottery game, "Doubling Dollars."

Inkster cage coach needs Santa to bring some help

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

If Santa is listening, and he usually is at this time of the year, would he please take note that Inkster cage Coach George Thompson Jr. needs some help this season.

If at all possible, could Santa drop a 6-9 center through the Thompson chimney? That's what the dean of the area high school basketball coaches is wishing for this Christmas.

Can you blame him?

Four games into the 1988-89 season, the Vikings are 1-3 on the year. They're 0-1 in the Suburban Athletic Conference after losing a heartbreaker at Oak Park, 61-60, last Friday.

And they're off to their worst basketball start in recent memory.

"We're going to need some help," Thompson said after the game. "These kids are young and they're trying hard, and we are going to win our share of the games, but right now our inexperience is showing."

And the officiating at Oak Park didn't help a bit, Thompson said. He said he can't understand how his team went to the foul line only twice (and made three of four) while the Red Skins sank 14 of 23.

"In fact, in the fourth period with the game seesawing, we didn't even go to the foul line once while they (Oak Park) had 10 chances and made six," Thompson said.

It was definitely a game that was decided by free throws. Moreover, Oak Park can thank Michael Odden's clutch free throw shooting for the victory. Odden canned six in that final eight minutes.

The loss ruined Inkster's SAC opener.

The Parkers got off to a 15-9 lead on the strength of Odden's shooting. Although the Vikings recovered and came back to close the gap to 29-15 at the half-way mark, they waited until the second half to make their move.

Tyrone Orr connected on six of his 10 and Gary Johnson tossed in seven of his game high 20 points to spark the Vikings to a 44-41 advantage after three periods.

But Odden rallied the Red Skins with his free throws to overcome the deficit and the visitors.

Johnson was deadly from the three-point range as he tossed in five and wound up with a game-high 20 points. Orr was the only other Viking to break the double figure scoring mark. But just barely. He had 10.

The Vikings have the week off to prepare for the Benton Harbor Holiday Tournament. They are scheduled to play 6 p.m. Friday, Dec. 29 against Detroit Finney. In the nightcap at 8 p.m., the hosts will entertain Detroit Denby.

The Benton Harbor championship will be decided the following night with the two winners meeting for the title; the losers will play in a 6 p.m. consolation game.

"It's a good tournament," Thompson commented, "and the kids enjoy making the trip."

And if Santa could only come through and bring that center, well, everything will be all right. Right, coach?

Belleville places 3rd at Ypsi mat meet

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Belleville wrestlers surfaced from the mats at the Ypsilanti Invitational on Saturday with eight medals - seven of them gold - and a third place team finish in a field of six participating area high schools.

Northville surprised the local grapplers and emerged with the team championship. The Colts garnered 163 points to beat out Davison, which had 149 for the championship. Coach Gerald Malecek and his Tigers finished third with a total of 141.

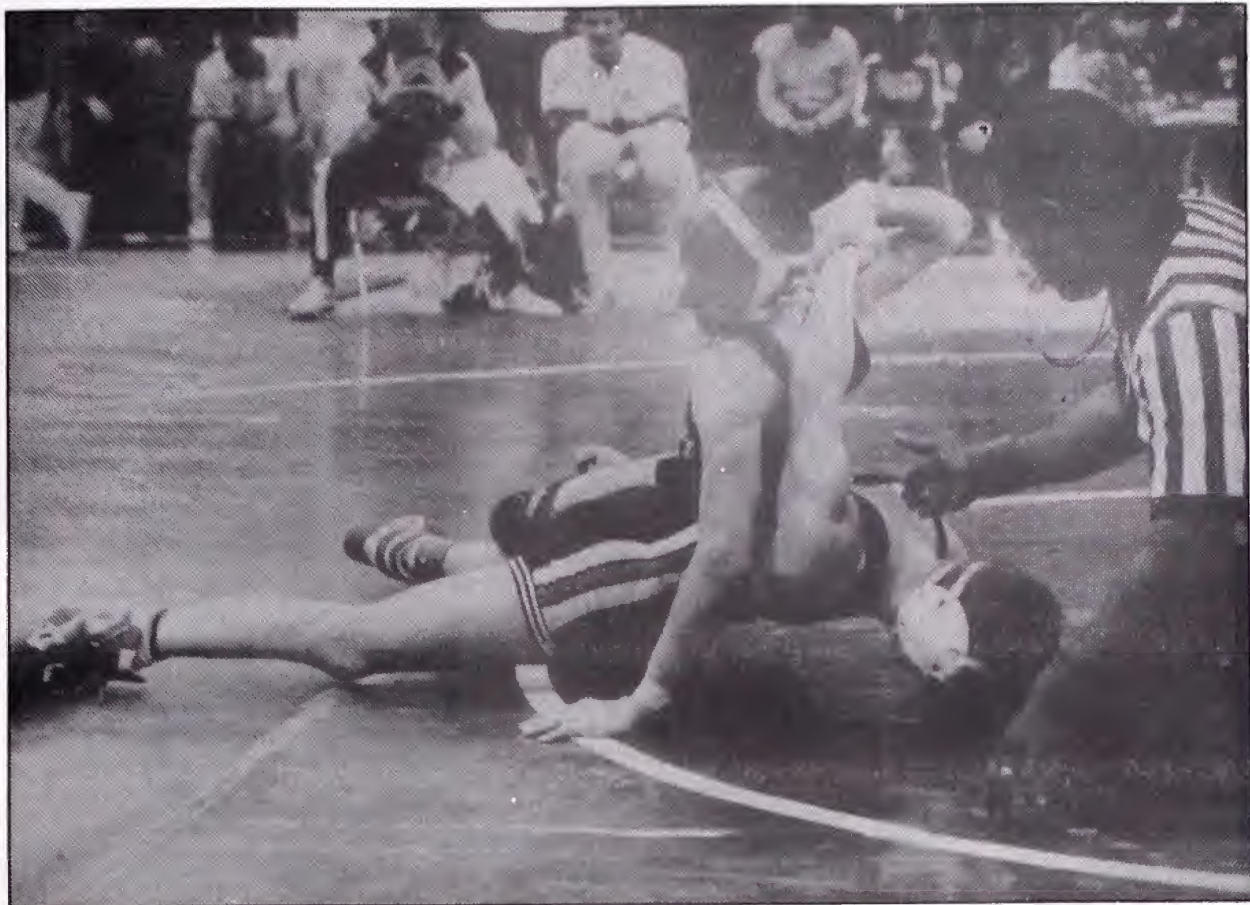

Trailing the top three teams were Dearborn Edsel Ford, Novi and the host, Ypsi.

Belleville was represented in the winner's circle by Derek Reed (103), Brian Dorow (130), Rob Lucas (145) and Michael Braswell (missing weight class).

Reed reached the finals where he encountered Kevin Khashan of Northville and pinned his opponent in 3:46; Dorow escaped with a victory over a tough Ypsi opponent, John Comazzi, who he defeated, 7-6.

In the meanwhile, Lucas also encountered a tough opponent in the shape of Northville grappler Curt Curton and the Belleville grappler eked out a close 7-6 win.

Braswell, an All-Area wrest-

Belleville senior grappler Rob Lucas bounced back from the Tiger Invitational (above) last week to win his first major tournament title of the season. ler a year ago, stopped Myron Madrigal by a 7-0 count.

Belleville also had a pair of silver medalists in Jeff Komaromi and Joe Yuhas.

Komaromi fell to his 189-pound rival, Michael Hale of Northville via a 3:15 pin. Yuhas lost his gold medal to Davison's Brad Smith, who won a 7-3 decision over his 140-pound rival.

Belleville had two third-place finishers in heavyweight Jim Howe and Joe Dumont, a 135-pounder.

Malecek's wrestlers remained undefeated in dual meet competition this year as they added Wolverine 'A' Conference foes, Dearborn Fordson, to their list of victories this season. The Tigers turned back the Tractors 50-15 in their conference opener last Thursday. They are now 3-0 on the season (1-0 in the conference).

Before enjoying the holidays, the Tigers must meet Trenton, a team that has set its sights on the conference title this year.

The two rivals meet tonight at 6:30.

Belleville has one-third of the WAC title. The other two-thirds are in the hands of Southgate Anderson and Monroe.

Malecek said that he has put together a young and enthusiastic team that has a lot of potential.

"I'm not looking for them to peak too early," he said. "We have a long season ahead of us."

St. Mary's keeps Huron cage team winless

By TOM MOORADIAN
ANP Staff Writer

Monroe St. Mary's took 'no hostages' Friday night and slaughtered the New Boston Huron Chiefs, 88-44, in a Huron Conference basketball game.

After ambushing Coach Larry Swick's small cadre of cagers in the first stages of the battle, 27-13, St. Mary's didn't look back as it piled up an insurmountable 51-26 lead at halftime.

"St. Mary's is an excellent team," said Swick who will be putting in overtime during the holidays to revise his starting lineup. "They outplayed, outmanned, and outdid us in every thing in this one."

Swick said that he will have to go back to the drawing board and come up with something to take the pressure off his two guards, who have been supplying the team with more than 75 percent of the baskets.

But the opposition has been double-teaming the guards, Mike Debozy and Mike Harrison, and have been successful in stopping the rest of the lineup.

"We just got to get more scoring from the others," Swick said. "And that's why we must get back to the drawing board."

Debozy scored 18 of his team's 44 points against Monroe as Harrison encountered heavy flak from the defense and was shot down.

The loss left the Chiefs winless in the conference in three starts and they're 1-5 overall for the 1988 phase of the season.

Although three players were in double-scoring figures against Flat Rock earlier in the week, it wasn't enough as Huron succumbed to their league rivals, 82-59.

It was a close game, however, for three periods as Flat Rock enjoyed a 22-16 first period lead and was out in front 40-30 at halftime. The Chiefs were still in the game (57-46) after three periods, but Flat Rock salted it away with a 25-13 finale.

Harrison collected 17 points and Roger Marmion contributed 12, while Debozy added 10.

Wayne blows Southgate away

By TERRY JACOBY
ANP Staff Writer

Following three tough games, Wayne Memorial had an easy one Friday night. And easy it was.

The Zebras shutdown their hosts and jumped out to a 17-0 lead as Southgate redefined the term cold.

Wayne went on to a 74-29 rout.

Southgate, which has a new coach and is in a rebuilding stage, picked the wrong conference in which to rebuild. And the wrong season.

This season the Wolverine A conference is loaded with some outstanding teams and Southgate had their first taste Friday night.

"We pressed at times in the first half and got some turnovers. We also played good half-court defense," said Wayne Coach Chuck Henry.

"Our kids were coming off a loss and we played very hard and we didn't give them much time to shoot."

Wayne led 39-8 at halftime and 56-17 after three quarters. Southgate dropped to 0-5.

"They have a young coach who is trying to build a program and the kids work hard,"

Henry said.

Seniors Anthony Rumble and Leonard Wade led Wayne with 14 points apiece.

Wayne opened the season with back-to-back wins over John Glenn and Redford Catholic Central. Monroe handed the Zebras their first loss in game number three.

Henry hopes the easy victory over Southgate puts the Zebras back on track.

"If we can get two wins (this week) it will put us at 5-1 and in good shape for the holidays," Henry said.

Wayne, which played at Garden City last night, will travel to Lincoln Park for its third conference game.

"They (Lincoln Park) have a good team and have won three or four games this year," Henry said. "Their gym is also a real good home floor."

Henry said his teams have always had trouble at Lincoln Park, including the 1984 team which won 22 games.

"It's a real big gym and their bleachers are far away from the court and it can really distort a visiting teams shooting," Henry said.

"A lot of teams that go in there have problems, and we will have to deal with it also."

All-Area coming next

The Associated Newspapers' Sports Staff will write the final pages of the 1988 high school girls' basketball season next week with the special All-Area edition. Over 30 hockey title is up for grabs

Johnson Carbonic, which had won just two games all year, has suddenly put back-to-back wins together, including a 6-1 trouncing of Daly's Drive-In.

Don Middaugh scored three times to lead Johnson and Al Pulk added two goals. Bill Creekmore scored the other Johnson goal. The win improved their season record to 4-8-1.

Paul Ihlenfeldt scored the only goal for Daly's, whose record drops to 4-7-2.

J.P.R. Leasing led the entire way and defeated Millar-Weinberg 5-3. The loss knocked Millar into second place.

J.P.R. was led by Mitch Ramsay and Mark Jewett, who each scored two goals. Rick Gardner scored his first goal of the season.

Mike Zimnicki assisted on three of the goals.

Jeff Addley scored three times to lead Independent Floor Covering to an 8-2 win over The Ships Store. Also scoring for Independent were Tom Bryans, Tim Dettloff, John Siwarski, Joe Wiatr and Jeff Wozniak.

Independent now stands at 11-1-1.

John Ballarian and John Porter scored solo goals for The Ships Store, dropping to 2-10-1.

P.C. Outlet scored twice in each period as they defeated Paddy's Pub, 6-4.

The win moved P.C. to first place in their division.

Clyde Ayers and Mike Greer hit for two goals apiece and Jeff Carter and Andy Pietrazzyk added solo goals.

John Jackovich scored twice for Paddy's and John Kunz and Jim Miller added a goal apiece. Paddy's fell to 5-7-1.

Bob Jones scored twice and added three assists as D and E Collision defeated American Trophy, 5-4.

Al Farina, Bob Bowen and Jeff Vermilion scored solo goals for D and E, who improved to 7-4-2.

Ed Schecter scored twice and Ron Clements and Ron Hays scored solo goals for American, who fell to 3-8-2.

Dave Frankling scored three goals and had three assists as Easley Electric jolted Harlow Tire, 8-4.

John Auer, Norm Beansley, Tom DiLaura, Chuck Pankow and Errol Pulk hit for one goal apiece as Easley improved to 7-4-2.

Tom Mazorowicz and Dave Hunt each scored twice for Harlow (4-8-1).

Robichaud tankers chalked up their first win of the 1988-89 campaign at the expense of Oak Park. They took six of the 11 first places in a 97-60 victory as Rob Patrick turned in with a double win.

Patrick put the 200-yard individual medley and the 100-yard backstroke events in the Robichaud victory column. Teammate Jason Frances duplicated Patrick's two wins, however, he was first in the 200 and 500-yard freestyle events.

Other Robichaud winners included Jay Stuve, who won the 100-yard breaststroke. The Bulldogs also claimed the diving boards competition thanks to the efforts of Sonny Copper.

Testing talents: Student scores not final word on ability

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

MEAP - it's part of the lingo of any self-respecting school administrator, teacher or concerned parent. MEAP stands for Michigan Educational Assessment Program, a series of tests often used, incorrectly, to separate the academic "haves" from the academic "have nots."

In western Wayne County, school officials have a healthy respect for MEAP, but it's not necessarily the final word in terms of curriculum development or assessment of academic achievement.

"I don't know if there's anything better," said Dr. Michael Homes, assistant superintendent for instruction at Plymouth-Canton Community Schools. "It's a barometer we have. A lot of people feel MEAP isn't very effective. It's a matter of perspective. There is information that can be valuable, but it's not a be all and end all."

Homes said MEAP is valuable in two ways: One, as a means of obtaining information on specific students in grades four, seven and 10 in terms of their strengths and weaknesses. Two, as a means of providing a challenge to assess and update the curriculum in areas of need.

MEAP is based on the idea that the state board of education has a responsibility to take stock, periodically, of the educational health of Michigan students.

The first MEAP tests were administered in reading and mathematics during the 1969-70 school year. Following a four-year revision process, new objectives and tests were introduced in 1980-81.

Science objectives were tested on a mandatory basis for the first time this fall.

Students in fourth-, seventh- and 10th-grades are tested on what state education specialists have determined to be the "essential skills" in each area.

The test is administered during a five-week time span which begins the Monday following Labor Day.

What the MEAP does is measure essential skills. What it does not do is rate the quality of the overall education program of a particular school district.

"The MEAP tests measure only a set of very important basic skills in reading, mathematics and science," said Geraldine Coleman, coordinator of MEAP. "Although these skills are important, they are not the only skills which students should learn."

"By themselves, the MEAP test results cannot tell whether a district is providing an excellent instructional program to students with great educational needs or a mediocre program to students with few educational needs. Comparing school districts on the basis of MEAP test results is very misleading..."

Douglas Brown, director of instruction for Van Buren Public Schools, believes that MEAP test results are generally valid in the areas of reading and math.

"The test does measure minimum performance skills in those test areas," Brown said. "As a result of the many years these areas have been tested, the validity should be respectable."

In terms of the science portion of the MEAP, most administrators believe that the objectives being measured are not taught at the time period during which the test is administered.

Area contamination sites named

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

A dump near Wick Elementary School, in Romulus, tops the latest list of environmental contamination sites in western Wayne County.

The list of sites is published each year by the Department of Natural Resources as part of Public Act 307, the Michigan Environmental Response Act of 1982.

A total of five sites in western Wayne County have been designated by the DNR as Group I sites - those which have been scored on a scale of 0 to 2000 by the Michigan Site Assessment System.

The system is designed to assess the relative present and potential risk to the public health, safety, welfare and the environment, which may be posed by each site of contamination, state officials said.

Ranked 22nd and highest locally of nearly 500 sites in terms of severity of contamination is a barrel dump in Romulus, located near the school. The pollutant has been identified by DNR officials as phenol, cyanide zinc iron and xylene cadmium. Resources affected include surface water, soil and groundwater.

An interim response has been taken at the site, which includes such temporary measures as providing alternate drinking supplies, surface removal and site security.

Ranked 176th on the list is the Trilex firm, in Canton Township. Source of the contamination is a plating and polishing operation. Pollutants include chromium nickel, lead zinc and cyanide copper. Interim response efforts have taken place at the site.

Ranked 316th is the Martinsville Road Disposal Site, in Sumpter Township. Source of contamination is a dump. Pollutants have been identified as PCB, TCE, Toluene and Benzene. Interim response measures have been taken.

Ranked 324th is the K and J Landfill, in Canton Township, identified by the DNR as having surface- and groundwater contamination. The site is currently of insufficient priority to merit a state-funded evaluation or response.

The final site in western Wayne County identified by the DNR as a Group I site is the Oakville, Waltz Road Disposal Site, in Sumpter Township. Contaminants at the dump site include PCB, Toluene TCE and Benzene. An interim response has been taken by state officials.

Some objectives tested in the fall MEAP may not be addressed in class until the following semester.

Brown said that some districts do gear their instructional programs around the MEAP, hoping to increase scores and enhance student success.

Next year, school officials are expecting low scores on the reading portion of the test, which will be revised to include more stringent objectives in the area of reading comprehension.

"There will be horrendous revisions next year," Brown said. "Many revisions in actual objectives and test structure, all geared to meet the new definition of reading. There is a feeling that reading test scores will plummet."

Currently, Brown said, reading passages on the test itself are relatively short. With the new revisions, reading passages would be increased from a few paragraphs to a few pages.

Brown said he is concerned, but not opposed to the revisions.

"It is time we did concentrate on reading for meaning and comprehension," he said.

Facelift: Michigan Avenue repairs aid retailers

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Michigan Avenue has a new facelift, and local retailers are hoping the fresh look will attract new business.

A stretch of the road, from Wayne city limits west to I-275, has been widened to four lanes, enhancing the overall appearance and "driveability" of Michigan Avenue.

"It's wide open," said John Wisniewski, project engineer for the Michigan Department of Transportation, also known as MDOT. "Date of completion was Dec. 1, ahead of schedule and within the budget."

All that remains is for Detroit Edison to install some lights.

Begun in spring 1987, road construction costs amounted to $7,605,913. Holloway Construction Company, with offices in Livonia and Wixom, was subcontracted to perform the road widening.

Overall, said Wisniewski, everyone involved—the MDOT officials, Wayne officials, Canton Township officials and the general public—was very pleased with the results.

"I always worry about big companies," he said, referring to Holloway, "but these people were very cooperative. I was happy to deal with these people. They kept traffic moving in two lanes the majority of the time."

In 1990, Wisniewski said, the road will be widened to four lanes further west, as far as Lilley Road. Final plans for this proposal have not yet been developed.

Craig Walker, store manager of Walter's Home Appliances, said the six-month project did little to negatively influence business.

"Things were not bad, actually," he said. "They did a good job. We have no real complaints."

"It didn't hurt me too much," said Terry Leright, owner of Terry's Collision. "I thought they worked real hard at it. It didn't hurt us any. Business was as good as it ever was."

Leright expects business to get even better now that the new roadway is fully operational.

"It did a lot for the appearance of my building," he said. "It sits on a hill now. There's grass, a bike trail—it's going to look good. It opened up the traffic more—people can spread out in the lanes, notice us more."

"It's opened up a lot of options for the area. Business is going to be better. People will be more apt to build here with a nice new road."

Holiday wishes

Officials from area chambers of commerce took time from their schedules this month to gather, dine and enjoy an hour or two of holiday merriment. Members of the Wayne and Westland chambers staged their annual joint Christmas luncheon Dec. 7, at the Hellenic Center, in Westland. Participating in the event were Rhonda Parks (left), who won a poinsettia door prize, and Richard E. Honaker, of NBD. Belleville area chamber members staged their holiday gathering Thursday, as did officials from Romulus. The Belleville party was staged at JB's Place, in Belleville. The Romulus party was conducted at the Ramada Inn, in Romulus. Canton Chamber of Commerce members gathered for the holidays Dec. 7, at the Fellows Creek Country Club, in Canton Township. Jobs for the retarded provide double benefit

By FLORENCE MEEKS
ANP Staff Writer

A job in the community and eventual independence are goals for members of the Wayne County Association for the Retarded. Of the 1,000 people the agency serves, 100 are working in the community, according to spokesman Ronald Krzesniak. The others work in one of six work/activity centers the agency sponsors in Wayne County.

The agency, which recently celebrated its 15th anniversary, provides job training, placement, supervision and evaluation for the mentally retarded.

Most clients begin their involvement with the agency by coming to a work center. There they participate in adult education, social activities and paid work within the building. Krzesniak explained that the centers help provide training for future employment outside the center and determine what types of jobs clients are capable of.

The agency has changed the placement procedure for some clients, Krzesniak said. Instead of being trained and evaluated at a center, the client is placed directly in a job. They will be trained there and evaluated.

This method is time-saving, said Krzesniak. Participants learn exactly what they need for the job.

"The people are growing faster, achieving more than we originally expected," said Krzesniak. He added that the sheltered environment of the work centers may hold people back. In "the real world," workers are challenged to do their best.

A success story of a client who works alone without agency supervision can be found at Chuck Muer's in Wayne.

Maurice Cox, an Inkster resident, has been employed at the restaurant nearly three years. His duties include prepping the dining area before lunch, vacuuming, setting tables and wrapping silverware.

"He's an excellent worker," said manager Jon Bodin. He said Cox is always willing to do extra work. Despite a speech impediment, Cox is able to communicate if necessary by using gestures.

Bodin said he would encourage other employers to hire retarded workers. "People in Maurice's position are very dedicated in doing a job. They take their work seriously," he said.

Krzesniak said he has received positive feedback from many participating employers and believes more businesses will take advantage of the program.

A national initiative to work with retarded citizens has been established at the Kentucky Fried Chicken restaurants.

Retarded employees will be faced by many challenges as they are thrust into the real world.

They must learn to deal with the stress of the job. They must find the transportation and they must learn to overcome various behaviors which would be disturbing to the general public.

The challenges, however, will be worth it if these citizens achieve their goal of independence.

Laundry list notes successes of local-business owners

By JIM RINK
ANP Staff Writer

Milton Resnick has a laundry list of sorts.

Instead of grocery items, it contains names. Names of the employees—no, cherished friends—with whom he has worked side by side for half a lifetime.

Resnick and his brother William own and operate Inkster Cleaners and Shirt Laundry, 26756 Michigan Avenue. They've been there since the end of World War II, when their GI loans and fate took a hand to fashion a longstanding tradition in dry cleaning and a unique perspective on employee management.

"The business started in March 17, 1947," Milton said in his small, but comfortable office, situated in the rear of the building. "We were just out of the service. We received GI loans. Six blocks west of here—that was the start."

After three years, Milton and William moved to their present location, where they have been ever since, promising service in four hours: "In by 12, out by 4."

The two brothers also operate a pick-up service at 30257 Cherry Hill Road.

"It's been a great learning experience," Milton said, referring to his business. "I've even lectured at Inkster High School in Home Economics class. As a member of the Michigan Institute of Dry Cleaning since 1950, we receive technical bulletins on fabrics—all types of fabrics.

"Cottons, silks, linens, rayons, wools, polyester, acrylics—you have to learn to identify each."

Milton, who serves on the Tax Increment Finance Authority board and the Economic Development board for the city of Inkster, is head of personnel at Inkster Cleaners, head of public relations and head presser.

William is head of dry cleaning, maintenance and acts as chief spotter.

As chief spotter, he identifies stains, types of fabric, and determines what kind of chemicals to use on which stain.

Milton said each garment which comes into the store goes through eight different stages before it is returned to the customer.

This is where the laundry list comes in:

• Goodwyn Long—has been with the company since 1951. Works as a cleaner, presser.

• Shirley White—has been with the company since 1969. Works as manager in Milton's absence, head inspector.

• Carmen Williams—has been with the company since 1970. Works as assistant manager and in repairs and alterations.

• Marietta Clark—has been with the company since 1971. Works as head of alterations and in repairs.

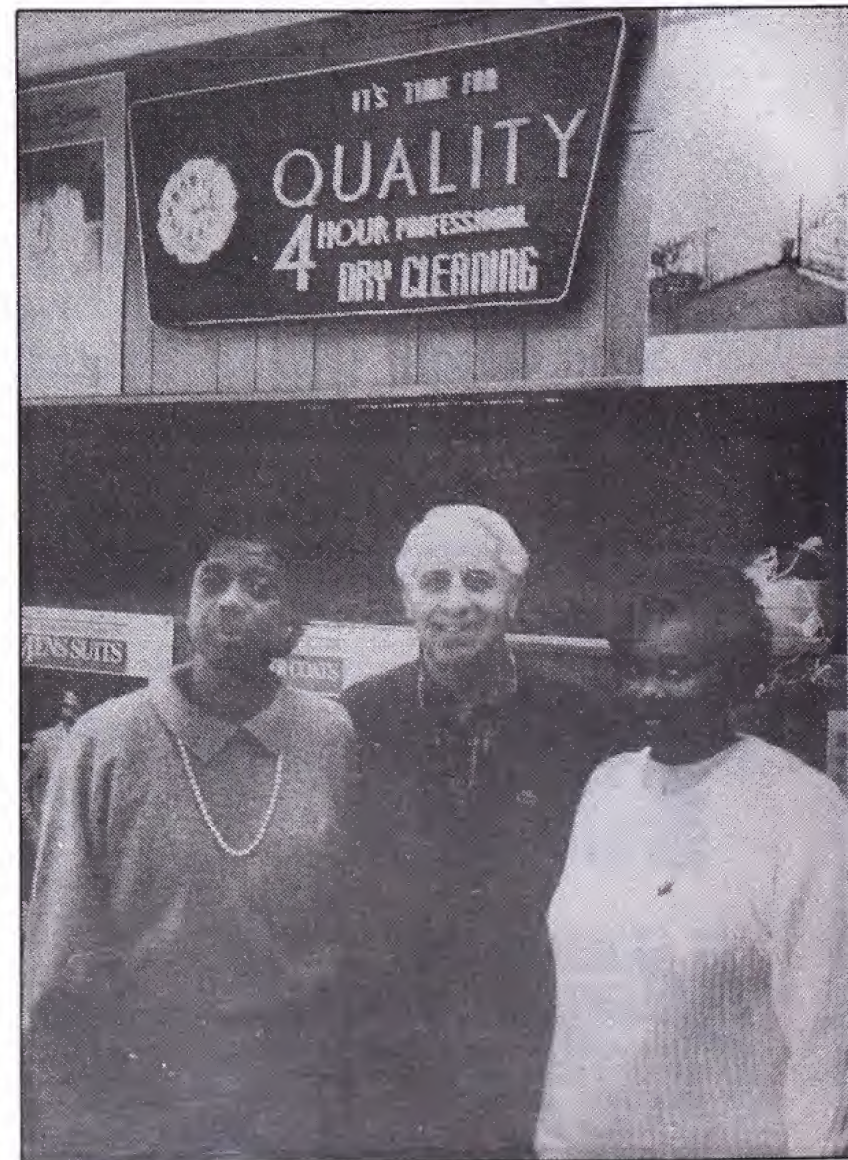

• Ernestine Teel—has been with the company since 1977. Works as a clerk and in the bagging department.

Milton is very proud of his workers and feels they are more like family than employees. He points out that Williams came to America in 1970 from the Caribbean. Her first job was at Inkster Cleaners. She's been there ever since. None have ever been laid off.

"Mr. Long's sister worked for us," Milton said, "for 25 years. She's Shirley White's mother. Mr. Long's two daughters worked for us while going to school."

"These employees—they could have been making more money working elsewhere," Milton said. "It's like a family affair. We have very mutual feelings toward each other, as a family might."

To become part of the Inkster Cleaners family, all one has to do is bring down some garments to be dry cleaned. Shirley and Carmen usually work the front desk, and they know nearly all the customers on a first-name basis.

Deck the mill?

More than 100 youngsters and area residents gathered at the Nankin Mill, in Westland, Dec. 8 to celebrate the decoration and renewed interest of the more-than-100-year-old structure. The mill, located on Ann Arbor Trail, near Hines Park, has been "adopted" by the Friends of the Mill, a private group of supporters and historians. Similar historical events are planned in the future. Participating in the lighting ceremony Thursday were several area Scout troops and youngsters, including Gina Rae (right, form left), 5, of Farmington Hills, and Ann Watkins, 5, of Plymouth. The ceremony included Christmas carols and holiday wishes for all. ANP photo by Debbie Pountney

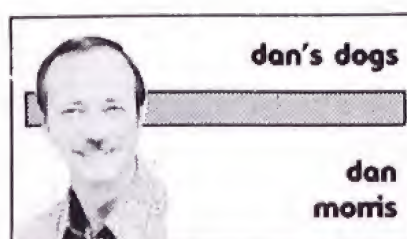

It always pays to listen to expert advice

Is it human nature to be skeptical? When one phones the doctor for advice for something minor such as a hang nail - and is told exactly what to do to alleviate the discomfort, does that person say, "Oh, that won't work."

but, lately, I have been hearing a lot of "Oh, that won't work." I wonder why people call for advice when they have no intention of following it or won't follow it because they didn't hear the answer they had hoped for. Let me give you an example.

An acquaintance called, insisting that I tell him what breed of dog he should select. He was practically out the door and wanted a quick answer. "No matter what, I would return home with a new puppy," he advised me, so I had better tell him right now which one to buy.

Naturally, selection of a puppy is always a personal choice. Most buyers already have in mind their favorite dog and don't bother to look at other breeds. My friend told me where he was going and which dog he was going to choose out of the litter.

He had already visited the breeder, was happy with her and the price she was asking for her puppies and had an eye on one, hoping she had not sold it by the time he arrived. Still, he insisted that I tell him that I agreed that this was the right dog for him and his family.

We talked as long as he allowed. (I remembered he was "out the door.") I cautioned him strongly about my pet peeves - wrestling/roughhousing with the puppy and keeping the dog outside alone. I reiterated the same advice I had given countless times and reshaped stories of why dogs will bite if played with and why dogs will turn aggressive if left in the yard.

He assured me he understood, would heed my advice and would phone again after the puppy was home with him and his family.

It was months since I encountered my friend in a hardware store. He was buying a stakeout chain. I knew who would be using that contraption.

He said the dog was huge, really a deterrent to anyone coming near the house. He also said he loved the dog. He also said he and his family had no problems anymore with the dog and that everyone was happy.

I had that uneasy feeling in the pit of my stomach. I asked the question. "What did you do?"

"I built him a dog house in the far part of the yard. He will be able to see everyone going by but won't bother us anymore," he replied.

I had to bite my tongue to keep silent. I now dread the next conversation. He will call to tell me he needs help because he has to appear in court. His dog has jumped the fence and knocked someone down, hurting that person. Now, the injured party is suing him.

Giving

Gift-giving tradition
has cautious note

By JOAN MARY DYER
Belleville City Editor

From the first gifts of gold, myrrh and frankincense presented to the Christ Child, presents have been an important part of the holiday celebration.

During all of the great feasts of the early Christian Church, gifts were exchanged. Christmas — being the most festive holiday of the year — became the time when the most costly and elaborate presents were presented. The gift-giving custom has continued and expanded through the years and appears to have become a major focus of the holiday season in the 1980s.

However, according to Roger Dallwig, director of Her Place/His Place Counseling Center, the practice of gift giving was not always as widespread as it is today. In fact, he said, children usually were the only recipients of gifts during the turn of the century. Adults often exchanged small token gifts during this period — handkerchiefs, and handmade items were among the most popular gift items.

"There doesn't seem to be any breaking away from the commercialism of the holidays," Dallwig said. "Youngsters see expensive toys on television — some of which are shown doing things that they are not really capable of — and there is a real letdown if their parents cannot afford to purchase the toy. There also is a letdown if the toy cannot live up to the expectations the child has after viewing it on television."

Dallwig believes the best way of dealing with the gift-giving dilemma is to

What is the best gift you ever received?

William Woods
Auto salesman
Belleville

Woods received his best Christmas gift in 1978 — his first car.

"I was graduating from high school in January 1979, so the gift was kind of a combination Christmas and graduation gift from my parents," Woods said. "Everyone's first car is always special, but this was really great, because I got it for Christmas — a month before I graduated."

Edgar Frazier
Deputy fire chief
City of Inkster

Gifts come in all shapes and forms, but one of the most precious Christmas gifts that Frazier ever received arrived on his doorstep in Inkster during the 1985 Christmas holidays. He had waited more than five years for the bundle of charm and love.

At the door was his grandchild.

Jim Poole
Retired
Canton Township

Poole was Canton Township supervisor from 1980 to November 1988.

"In 1954, on the 18th of December, I got married," Poole said, referring to his most prized Christmas gift, his wife, Greta.

Annette Remsburg
Teacher
Canton

Remsburg was a 1988 candidate for the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education. She is currently co-chairperson of CREW, Committee Researching Educational Workings.

"As I sit here doing Christmas cards, the thing that warms my heart the most is hearing from friends we haven't heard from all year," Remsburg said.

Sylvia Dubisky
Recreation assistant
Romulus

Although Dubisky had hinted she wanted a ring in past years, she was shocked the morning she found one under the Christmas tree.

That morning, four or five years ago, Dubisky received a mother's ring from her four children. The ring is silver and displays the birthstones of each child.

"It was just what I really wanted," Dubisky said.

Lorrie Eggers
Secretary
City of Westland

Eggers thinks back to Christmases as a little girl, when she remembers the best gift she ever received.

Eggers, secretary for Westland Mayor Charles Griffin, said her favorite gift was an almost life-sized doll that could be made to walk.

"Or maybe my favorite would have been the bride doll," Eggers thinks again.

Linda Choate
City Clerk
City of Romulus

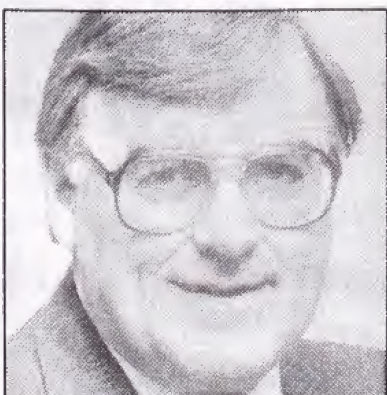

Selecting a favorite present was difficult for Choate.

"To me every Christmas is just a joy. I love it," she explained.

A top present on her list was the year her son Richard spent Christmas at home for the first time in three years.

"That was a special one," Choate said.

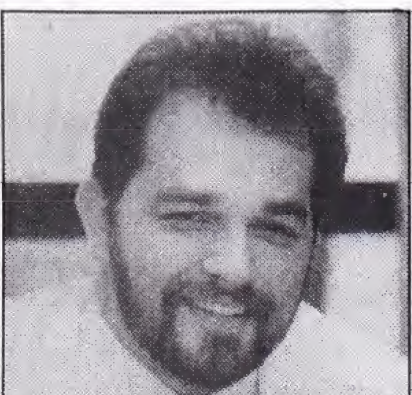

Her son is in the Air Force and had been unable to receive a holiday leave for three years.

Dean Swartzwelter
School board member
Plymouth-Canton

Swartzwelter is vice president of the Plymouth-Canton Community Schools Board of Education. His son Scott was recently appointed to the West Point Military Academy, in New York.

"The best gift I ever received was Scott achieving his nomination and receiving his appointment," Swartzwelter said.

Jim Napiorkowski
Treasurer
City of Romulus

"My family and my two healthy children. And, of course, my wonderful wife," he said.

Napiorkowski and his wife, Angelica, have two children, Jim Jr., 16, and Michelle, 14.

Deborah Putnam
Wayne

"I bought a radial-arm saw for me and my husband because we are remodeling our house," Putnam said. "We are knocking out some walls and building some closets."

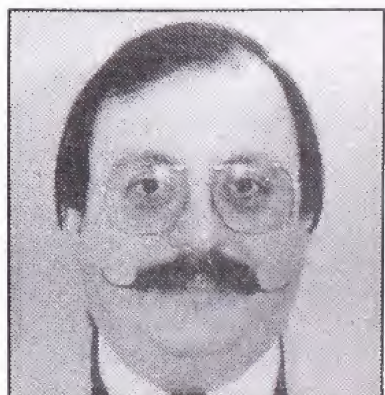

"He is going to do most of the work but I will help and the saw will get a lot of work."

Tracie Clemenz
Secretary
City of Inkster

Clemenz believes "family" is the best Christmas gift she has ever had.

"My parents and brother mean the whole world to me," Clemenz said. "They are a gift that I am really thankful for. You can really appreciate family during the entire year, but especially during these special holidays."

Bob Beeny
City councilman
City of Wayne

"The best gift was our daughter, who was born Jan. 3," he said. "She was a little late, but we considered it a great Christmas present."

That present, Kristin Beeny, is currently a sophomore at John Glenn High School, in Westland.

What is the best gift you received?

Teresa Leverenz
Bookkeeper
Wayne

Leverenz isn't a big fan of washing dishes.
 "The best gift for me was a dishwasher," she said.
 "I don't have to worry about my sink being clogged up with dishes all day. I'd be lost without my dishwasher."
 Leverenz is the head bookkeeper at Big Lots in the Wayne Metroplace Mall.

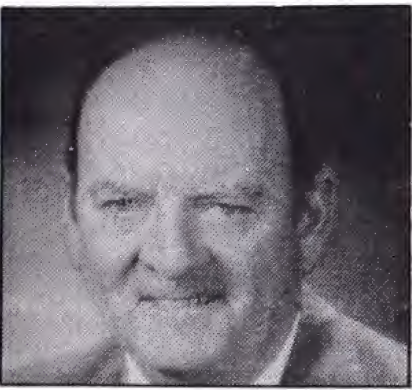

Sylvia Kozorosky-Wiacek
School board member
Wayne-Westland

The best gift Kozorosky-Wiacek ever received is given each Christmas.
 Each year, members of her family are asked to take the offertory gifts at the Christmas church service.
 "I think it's really special," Kozorosky-Wiacek said.
 The director of the Westland senior resources department said it is very special to her to be asked to participate in this service, and she is honored to have received this gift every year.

Terri Rieghard-Johnson
School board member
Wayne-Westland

The Christmas of 1984 comes to mind when Rieghard-Johnson thinks of the best gift she ever received.
 "My engagement ring is the gift that means the most to me," Rieghard-Johnson said.
 Her boyfriend, at the time, wrapped the ring up like a regular present. He presented her with a bottle of champagne, proposed a toast and asked her to marry him, as she opened the tiny box.
 "It was wonderful because it was such a surprise," she said. "It's a Christmas I'll never forget."

James Colleran
City councilman
City of Inkster

Holding his first grandchild in his arms was the best Christmas gift ever for Inkster lawmaker Colleran.
 "Our grandchild made me and my wife, JoAnn, very happy," Colleran said. "It was our first grandchild, and I think that's one of the reasons why Michael Peirson Colleran is so precious to us."

Pat Birbeck
Business owner
Van Buren Township

It may sound like a cliché, but Birbeck believes "it is better to give than to receive." Consequently, her favorite gift is one she plans to give, rather than receive.
 Birbeck believes the Christmas gift she is giving this year — along with 27 other area people — may be the best gift that she has ever presented to anyone.
 "I don't want to say too much about it, because I don't want to spoil the surprise for the youngster we are giving it to. He is a very special boy in the Belleville area who has had a difficult home situation," Birbeck said.

Donna Hall
Accountant
Van Buren Township

Hall believes the best Christmas gift she ever received was given to her by her daughter, Shari, who is now 18.
 "She was 8 years old and attending Haggerty Elementary School when she brought home a framed silhouette portrait of herself for Christmas," Hall said.
 Although Hall has received many nice gifts in the past decade, she said, the silhouette picture of her daughter still is "number one" on her list of favorites.

Gifts

set limits on spending and avoid giving children too many gifts at one time. It is better to space out the gifts during several days than to overwhelm the child — especially a small child — with an overabundance of gifts on Christmas morning, the therapist said.
 Although the practice of gift giving includes all the members of the household today, many adults have ambivalent feelings about the custom — they enjoy the giving, but are not as excited about the receiving.

 One area businessman, who asked not to be identified, said he "may sound like Scrooge, but I don't care about presents for myself or for most other adults."
 "Most of us today are affluent enough to buy whatever we need, when we need it. I think that has diminished the appreciation of Christmas gifts for most adults," he said. "During the Depression era, people didn't have money enough to fill their needs through the year, so they waited until the holidays to purchase a pair of slippers, a toaster or a new item of clothing for the other adults in their family. Today, we buy new clothes, jewelry or appliances whenever we need them. If your slippers are worn out, you wouldn't wait for Christmas to get a new pair, would you?" he continued.

 "But, as for the kids, I think the holidays are a good time to spoil youngsters — just a little," he said.

Food

Forgetting can still pay off

Is the shopping done? Tree all trimmed? Presents wrapped? Cookies baked? No, well join the majority of the population.

My tree is still in a box underneath about 15 or 20 other boxes full of Christmas decorations stacked in the living room. I'd move them all to the den, except I have about 75 or 80 gifts stacked in there. None of them wrapped, I might add. It's real inconvenient to get to the ironing board which is also being used as a makeshift shelf at this time.

The dog loves the chaos. He has developed a particular fondness for green silk ribbon and the stains he leaves on the white carpet as he drags the saliva-soaked treasures he has stolen from the den are less than prepossessing. In the holiday theme, perhaps, but less than esthetically pleasing. No wonder I'm crazy. Last night, I smacked the little creep with a gift box. It worked like a charm, he thought it was a new game and wouldn't leave me alone for an hour, barking and jumping at me while I tried, unsuccessfully, to wrap gifts.

In short, this holiday is shaping up as a disaster, pure and simple. Nothing is done, and the time to create a real family Christmas is long gone. And, the depression has set in. Like everyone else, I'm tired, I'm cranky, I'm broke and I'm anxiety ridden. You understand, just my usual self.

There is only one thing to do. Bake cookies. Not only will I feel like I'm doing something toward holiday happiness, but cookies are a sure-fire cure for anxiety and depression, both of which I have in abundance.

But, I really can do this. I found a wonderful recipe for a cookie that is so versatile, and bakes in a cooling oven for five hours. This is just the ticket. These little gems will bake while I sleep. I don't have to watch them, they won't burn and I can leave them for hours until I find time to attend to them. While they aren't my favorite cookie, they do have some merits. And, kids love them. Oh, what I'd do for a great bakery right about now. You know, a place that actually puts real butter and sugar into the cookies?

Forgotten meringue cookies

2 egg whites
Pinch of salt
Scant 1/2 teaspoon cream of tartar
3/4 cup sugar
1/2 teaspoon food coloring (green for mint, red for cinnamon)
1 1/2 cups chocolate chips

Preheat oven to 75 degrees. Beat egg whites, salt and cream of tartar together in large bowl until glossy. Add sugar and food coloring slowly. If flavoring is used (mint, cinnamon, butterscotch, etc.), add only 1/4 teaspoon of coloring and 1/4 teaspoon of flavoring. Stir in chocolate (or butterscotch or chocolate mint). Drop by small teaspoonfuls onto slightly greased cookie sheet. Turn off oven immediately upon putting cookies in and leave in oven five hours or overnight. Do not peek or open oven. This should make about 50 to 60 cookies and can be flavored and colored to suit any family's taste. Be inventive, use different colors and flavors and dates, nuts or raisins. These really are versatile and you can wrap presents while the oven does the work. Do them just before you go to bed and presto, the next morning, you have cookies. Do them just before you go to work in the morning, and like magic, when you arrive home, you have fresh cookies. You'll thank me for this someday.

Party trays ranging from low-calorie dishes to a display of sausage bits and shrimp, complete with a flame for toasting the food, are part of the reason Agnes Cook (above), of long with the joys of battling crazed consumers in shopping malls and guessing what to buy Aunt Martha this year, the holidays bring the responsibility of planning numerous parties for many people.

Offering a wide variety of well-planned munchies is an easy way to entertain successfully, according to Belleville resident Agnes Cook. The idea of preparing food for parties should be a cause for panic, she said.

"You need to plan ahead and plan things that you can prepare ahead, so, when the people come, you can relax," Cook said.

Cook, who even has a name indicating she's ready for the challenge, has mastered the fine art of entertaining. She has sharpened her skills with jobs ranging from catering to preparing food for local restaurants and enjoys the pleasure her cooking brings to others.

"I guess I've always had a desire to cook, just to see people happy when they eat," she said.

Cook's attitude is evident in the party spread she offers guests.

"I try to cover a little bit of everything," she said.

Her party trays range from low-calorie dishes to a display of sausage bits and shrimp, complete with a flame for toasting the food. Cook creates the fiery dish by placing a sterno flame in a hollowed-out cabbage covered with foil. Bits of cooked meat are displayed on the sides of the cabbage, speared with toothpicks.

Setting up a variety of snacks in one spot serves as an ice-breaker at parties, she said.

"People will stand around the food and talk. If you just sit people down, they won't do anything," Cook explained.

Unique snacks, such as the sausage dish, often serve as conversation pieces.

Another important aspect to hosts is the cost of entertaining. Because the holiday season often leads people to host several parties, avoiding excess spending is helpful. Cook tries to offer dishes that do not call for expensive ingredients. Most of her recipes are versatile and can be used throughout the year.

This season, Cook looks forward to entertaining several groups, including family, neighbors and members of her church group. In addition, she is busy with her full-time cooking job at the Vaskos restaurant, in Belleville, and her classload at Wayne County Community College.

Eventually, Cook would like to begin a career in restaurant management. She was married shortly after completing high school and raised four children.

"It's my turn now," she said.

Here are a few of Cook's secrets to successful holiday entertaining.

Zesty nibbles

16 ounces oyster crackers
1/3 cup vegetable oil
1/2 teaspoon lemon pepper
1/2 teaspoon garlic powder
1 package (1 ounce) dry buttermilk
Country-style salad dressing mix
1/2 teaspoon dill weed

Place crackers in a large plastic container. In a small pan, heat oil. Pour over crackers and toss to coat. In a small bowl, combine dry salad-dressing mix, lemon pepper, garlic powder and dill weed. Mix thoroughly and sprinkle over crackers. Toss again until all of the crackers are coated with the mixture. Keep tightly covered 24 hours, shaking occasionally. Keep in closed container up to 3 weeks. Makes 1 quart.

KOREA, AN ASIAN DELIGHT

Korea is not only a delight but a shopper's paradise. Seoul, the capital city, is one of the most vibrant cities in the East, filled with treasures of the past. It's population of eight million makes it one of the 10 largest cities in the world. Founded in 1392 by the first king of the Yi dynasty, Seoul retains three gates of the ancient city and three imperial palaces.

At the East Gate on Chongro Street you will be amazed by the vast and colorful bazaar with bargains galore. Visit Itaewon, a bargain hunter's paradise, with Reeboks for under $10; handknit sweaters for $6 - $8; eelskin handbags for $40 and briefcases for $100.

Travel from Seoul to Panmunjom, once an obscure farming village but now the famous site where the armistice was signed that ended the Korean War.

Another fabulous city is Kyongju, capital of the mighty Silla kingdom that dominated the country between the 7th and 9th centuries. Here you will find palace foundations, royal tombs, one of the world's first observatories and some of the largest cast bells.

Enjoying Good Health

Dr. Lee is the medical director of Cardiology at Oakwood Hospital and maintains a private practice in Cardiology in Allen Park.

AFTER YOUR HEART ATTACK—WHAT NOW?

By Cheng-Chong Lee, M.D.

You remember it well—that tight, discomforting feeling in your chest, pain shooting through your arm, shortness of breath, breaking out in a cold sweat: the doctor told you you had a heart attack.

Then came the seemingly endless trip to the emergency room, the week-long stay in the hospital, and the non-stop series of tests.

You survived this grueling experience—now what?

BETTER CHANCE FOR RECOVERY

More than four million Americans can testify to the fact that it is possible for heart attack victims to not only recover from their illness, but most likely to go on to live full, active lives.

The extent of your recovery depends on you.

While health professionals will be there to guide you through the crisis, only you can make the necessary changes in lifestyle that will decrease your chances of having another heart attack.

Although heart disease still is one of the most serious, life-threatening illnesses in America today, suffering a heart attack does not have to carry the death sentence that it did 10 or 15 years ago.

We know now that in order to resume a normal life after a heart attack you must make lifestyle changes to reduce or eliminate the three major risk factors that lead to heart disease: high blood cholesterol, high blood pressure, and cigarette smoking.

REDUCE HEALTH RISKS

People with one of these risk factors are nearly twice as likely to have a heart attack as those with none; those with two of these factors more than triple their chance; and people with all three multiply their chance tenfold!

Eliminating these risks means diminishing the prospect of a second heart attack.

It is also possible for your physician to prescribe a medication, such as calcium channel blockers, beta-blockers, aspirin, or nitroglycerin, to help reduce the risk of a repeat attack.

Next week in this column, we'll offer suggestions on how to make lifestyle changes that will lessen your chance for having another heart attack.

Awaken a child's curiosity...

Apple IIC Plus

The Apple IIC Plus makes learning interesting. Compact and portable, it is the Apple choice of many families. Built-in color graphics let children design in 16 colors. Computer, keyboard, disk drive and power supply in one unit! Until 12/21/88....
